Leon Koerner Gives Million For Education

B.C. Lumber Tycoon Creates Foundation

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $1,000,000 gift, believed to be the largest ever presented to Vancouver by a private individual, was announced Tuesday by Leon Koerner, retired president of Alaska Pine Co.

The gift, for educational, cultural and charitable purposes, will be administered by the Leon and Thea Foundation, named after Mr. and Mrs. Koerner.

The foundation will be administered by a board of governors, which includes Brig. Sherwood Lett, chief justice of the British Columbia Supreme Court, and Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Koerner settled in Vancouver 16 years ago when they were prevented from returning to their native Czechoslovakia by the Nazi occupation. Mr. Koerner had been controller of timber in his country before coming here during a world tour.

RUYS DOWNTOWN BUILDING

As an initial investment to maintain the fund in perpetuity, the foundation has bought the Rogers Building in downtown Vancouver for $1,250,000.

The Koerner gift is the second big donation of its kind from a lumber industrialist in Vancouver in little more than a week.

Last week H. R. MacMillan, chairman of the board of MacMillan and Bloedel, gave $500,000 to the Vancouver Foundation for education and research. Administrators of the Koerner Foundation said Mr. and Mrs. Koerner set up their foundation last May.

New Governor Due Thursday To See Home

Lieutenant-Governor designate Frank MacKenzie Ross, Vancouver, will pay a "flying" visit to Victoria Thursday when he and Mrs. Ross will be shown around Government House by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will come from Vancouver, where Mr. Wallace has been attending to personal business prior to the swearing-in of his successor October 3.

Rebels Seize Peron, Criminal Trial Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—A Mutual Broadcasting System correspondent in Buenos Aires reported today that Juan D. Peron "is now in rebel hands." The correspondent, Jack Comden, said Peron was taken off the Paraguayan gunboat where he took refuge Tuesday. He predicted Peron would be tried as a war criminal by the new Argentine government.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's rebel forces today won a peace agreement—apparently with unconditional surrender—from the loyalist followers of Juan D. Peron.

The rebels established Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi as provisional (temporary) president of the nation.

A brief communique did not disclose Peron's fate, but the rebels in their four-day revolt gave as one of their conditions of surrender the handing over of the man who ruled Argentina for a decade. The last authoritative information had him aboard a Paraguayan gunboat in Buenos Aires harbor.

The communique read over the state radio said the two sides had reached "complete accord" and the loyalist forces had "accepted the points stipulated by the rebels."

The rebels had announced before peace negotiations began that they would accept only an unconditional surrender.

GUNFIRE BEFORE PEACE

Government troops and police battled terrorist followers of Peron in the heart of downtown Buenos Aires today.

It was the most serious outbreak since the announcement of Peron's fall from power on Monday.

The bloody clash between government forces and some 400 to 600 members of the extreme right-wing Alianza Libertadora Nacionalista left the party headquarters wrecked and aflame under the combined fire of four Sherman tanks and a field gun mounted atop the nearby All America Cables building.

Bookkeeper Charged In Vancouver Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—A fire which swept a downtown clothing concern here May 9 was apparently set because "somebody wanted to get rid of the books," Magistrate Thomas Dohm said here Tuesday.

Victor Norman Laird, 35-year-old bookkeeper, is charged with arson in the Pacific Tailors, Ltd., fire.

BOY OPENS PLANE DOOR, FALLS MILE TO DEATH

SEPTILES, Que. (CP)—A 3½-year-old boy, who somehow released a latch on an escape hatch of a transport plane, was swept to his death Tuesday through the 20-inch square opening.

The youngster, Harold Meier, fell 6,000 feet to the bush below. Near him on the bench seats that run lengthwise of the plane were his mother and a five-year-old brother.

The accident happened on a regular daily flight of Heli-Ungava Transport.

CITY FIRM NAMED IN ROOF COMBINE

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament's anti-combines body has accused Canada's $40,000,000 asphalt and tar roofing products industry with maintaining illegal price-fixing operations for some 20 years. One of the industry's main products is asphalt shingles.

A Victoria firm, Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., is one of the 10 companies named in the report.

The three-man restrictive trade practices commission, in a 282-page report to Justice Minister Garson, urged court action to smash the operations and prevent their reopening.

The commission was set up by Parliament as a semi-judicial body in 1952.

STUDIES ACTION

Mr. Garson, making the report public today, said he will consult with his legal advisers and decide later what action the government will take.

Named in the report which developed out of a two-year federal combines investigation are: The Barrett Co. Ltd., Montreal; Dominion Dr. and Chemical Co. Ltd., Montreal; Canadian Gypsum Co. Ltd., Toronto; Canadian Johns Manville Co. Ltd., Toronto; Bishop Asphalt Papers Ltd., Portneuf Station, Que.; Brantford Roofing Co.

Ltd., Brantford, Ont.; Building Products Ltd., Ville La Salle, Que.; Currie Products Ltd., Hamilton; The Philip Carey Co. Ltd., Lennoxville, Que.; and Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., Victoria.

CHARGES JOINT ACTION

The commission, after hearing the combines investigators and the companies named, concluded there had been joint action by the manufacturers to maintain prices at various distribution points; restrict distribution outlets; discontinue certain products in public demand; limit roofing guarantees in some cases; and make uniform tenders for government contracts.

Besides shingles, the industry produces insulated and roll roofing, smooth and mineral surfaced roll roofing, sheathing and insulating pellets and papers, built-up roofing felts, asphalt compound and coal tar pitch, waterproofing paints and cements, shingle stains, wood preservatives and disinfectants.

The commission found price maintenance operations had started in the 1930s or even earlier and allegedly were administered through the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association. Certain association officials were mentioned in the allegations.

Yanks Can Clinch AL Pennant Tie

By UNITED PRESS

The relentless Yankees can clinch a tie for the American League title tonight if they beat the Washington Senators a third straight time and the Indians lose to the Chicago White Sox. But they can't deliver the kayo blow until at least Friday.

The Indians made certain of that Tuesday night when they snapped a four-game losing streak with a "back-to-the-wall" 3-2 triumph over the White Sox.

The victory did little more than prolong the agony, however, as the Yankees beat the Senators, 6-3 and 9-7, in a day-night double-header and went 2½ games ahead of the Tribe.

As a result, the Yankees' "magic number" is down to "three." Any combination of Yankee victories and Cleveland losses totaling three will clinch Casey Stengel's sixth flag in seven years. The Yankees have five games left, while the Indians have four.

Trade 'Chaos' Seen If U.S. Pulls Out

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—American activities in unloading its surplus wheat and other grains are upsetting the world wheat picture to an extent that could wreck the international wheat agreement and cause chaos in the international trading picture.

The situation is becoming so serious in the view of the Canadian government authorities that it will take top priority at the Sept. 26 meetings of the joint United States-Canada committee on trade and economic affairs here.

DUMPING HARMFUL

Canadian government trade and agriculture spokesmen have been blunt in their condemnation of the U.S. agriculture surplus disposal program. The American authorities have blandly assured the Canadian government that its program can have no effect on Canada's normal markets. But this has not been the experience of Canadian traders.

The American administration's insistence on disposing of its surplus agriculture products through "give-away" deals and by the acceptance of local currencies has been viewed with mounting alarm by the Canadian government.

DISTURBING COMMENT

On top of that there have been some disturbing statements emanating from Washington and from U.S. representatives in Canada.

In Calgary U.S. Ambassador to Canada, R. Douglas Stuart was interviewed this week.

Commenting on the difficulties developing over disposal of surplus farm products, he said: "Perhaps the old-fashioned law of supply and demand taking its course might result in a solution."

This comment has added to the concern in Canadian government trade and agriculture circles.

BAD FEELING

Fred J. Rossiter, agricultural attaché to the U.S. embassy at Ottawa, after a two-week tour of western Canada, said there was a need for Canadian and American representatives to get together to clear up "the bad feeling that has developed."

In addition, reports published in eastern Canadian newspapers from a Washington correspondent stated flatly that the U.S. might refuse to remain in the international wheat agreement next year if the United Kingdom continued to stay out. The correspondent quoted one official of the U.S. agriculture department as stating:

"There'll be no new agreement for sure."

PM Confident World Will Buy Canada's Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent expressed confidence today that Canada's huge surplus of wheat eventually will be sold.

But he gave no indication that he had any special disposal plan under consideration.

He was asked by reporters, following a morning cabinet session, to comment on a statement by A. H. McDonald, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, that he had placed before Mr. St. Laurent a scheme for moving western grain out of farm storage.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had spoken to Mr. McDonald and merely received confirmation that the Prairies had a lot of wheat and that it was of high quality.

"I feel confident," said Mr. St. Laurent, "that in due course it will be disposed of as the premium wheat of the world."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Western grain men and businessmen will meet in Saskatoon next Tuesday and Wednesday to figure out a way to move the mountain of grain lying on the Prairies. The talks were arranged by Interprovincial Farm Union Council. The country's storage and transportation facilities are "plugged tight." But even more serious is the problem of supply and demand.

Canada has the supply, but world markets aren't in a buying mood.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian visible wheat supplies totalled 377,000,000 bushels at the close of business Sept. 14, the board of grain commissioners said Tuesday. This represented a gain of 3,900,000 during the week and an increase of 27,000,000 over stocks in these same positions at this time last year.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The world's major exporting countries held 2,022,600,000 bushels of wheat for export in their bins and elevators on Aug. 1, the Bureau of Statistics said today. This was some 3 per cent below the available supplies of a year ago.

Brothers Identified As Abductors of Boy

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—Farmer Mose Wright pointed a knobby finger at J. W. Milam today and said "there he is"—identifying him as one man who abducted his nephew in the early morning hours Aug. 28.

Then the 64-year-old Wright pointed out 24-year-old Roy Bryant, Milam's half-brother, as the second man who roused the Wright family from bed at 2 a.m. and took 14-year-old Emmett Till away.

Bryant and Milam are accused of murdering the Chicago Negro boy because he allegedly whistled at Mrs. Bryant, District Attorney Gerald Chatham called Wright as the state's first witness in the murder trial.

Chatham asked Wright to describe the events of Aug. 28. He related:

"About two o'clock . . . someone was at the door. They said, 'preacher, preacher, this is Mr. Bryant.'"

PISTOL IN HAND

"I got up and opened the door. Mr. Milam was standing at the door with a pistol in his right hand and a flashlight in the other."

Chatham interrupted: "Uncle Mose, do you see Mr. Milam in the courtroom?"

The Negro rose from the big chair and pointed at the defendant. "There he is," he said.

Wright then pointed out Bryant as the man who stood in the darkness of the front porch with Milam.

As the men left the house, said Wright, one of them warned him not to cause any trouble or "you'll never live to be 65."

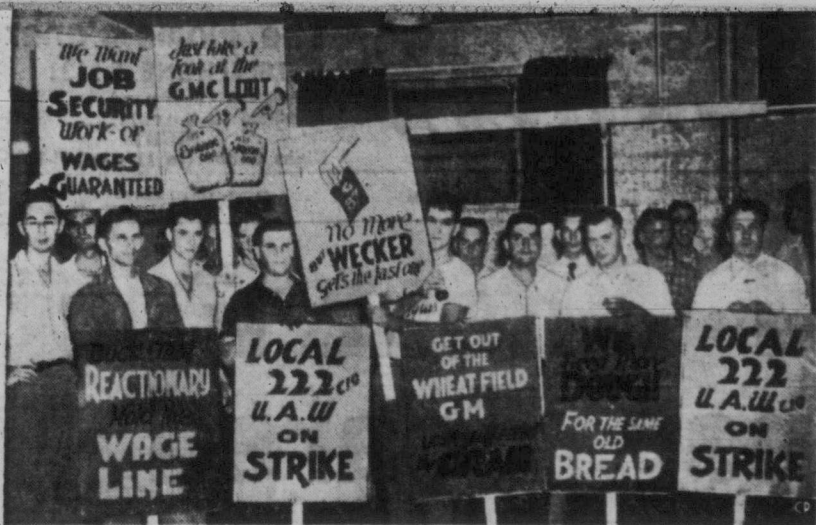

QUESTIONS NOT ANSWERED

Smith said field investigators talked to the witnesses through the early hours of today. At a press conference Tuesday night he refused to answer a series of questions: How many witnesses, who

BRITISH CABINET LOOKS HARD AT BUDGET

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden summoned his cabinet today to consider what government decisions are necessary to check inflation threatening Britain's new-found prosperity.

Top item on the agenda for the meeting—first full-scale cabinet session of the summer—was a review of the financial situation by Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler.

Persistent but unofficial reports said Eden may decide to cut defence spending under the severe economic pressure. Britain is failing to export enough to cover the costs of its imports from abroad.

'Living Wall' Ordered For Grave Gaza Area

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—United Nations officials today were ordered to form a "living wall" along a demilitarized section of the border between Israel and Egypt in order to avert a new frontier outbreak.

The order came from Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, United Nations chief Palestine peace observer. At the same time, he demanded that Israeli forces withdraw from the zone Tuesday night.

Burns told UN observers in the area to take up positions along the international border as a means of blocking an open clash between Israeli and Egyptian troops.

In Cairo, Col. Salah Gohar, director of the war office's Palestine department, said an Egyptian officer and three men were injured during this "flagrant violation of the general armistice agreement." An official spokesman said the situation was "very grave."

PROTEST ISRAELI ACTION

Gen. Burns called on the acting director of the Israeli foreign ministry, Arthur Lurie, today, and protested against the Israeli action in entering the El Ajia zone, a small area both sides of the border about 20 miles south of the Gaza strip.

Latest reports from El Ajia said the situation there was quiet.

An Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said the Israeli army units took up position in the zone Tuesday night, under strict orders to observe a cease-fire and to be withdrawn when two Egyptian outposts, discovered during demarcation of the international frontier, are withdrawn.

Giant Calgary CD Operation Delayed Week

CALGARY (CP)—Mayor Don Mackay today ordered a one-week postponement of Operation Lifesaver.

He said the operation will proceed as planned Sept. 28. The mayor's decision came after conferences with civic defence co-ordinators and police and an early-morning tour of the city and surrounding areas which the mayor said showed traffic conditions too dangerous to permit the massive test today.

The decision came after a night of snow and freezing rain that left streets and highways dangerously slippery. The temperature was 32 and a cold, stiff north wind was blowing.

QUESTION SUCCESS

Whether the massive evacuation of a hoped-for 40,000 persons from the northeastern section of Calgary would have been a success in the face of today's weather conditions was problematical. Evacuation was voluntary and civil defence authorities had no means of compulsion.

The bad weather was a blow to the country's top civil defence authorities, here from many parts of the western world to study the operation.

Vancouver Radio Reporter Hits Conduct of Tupper Police Probe

Three-pronged criticism of the conduct of the Tupper inquiry into allegations of graft, corruption, mismanagement and laxity in Vancouver city police force was made in Victoria today by radio reporter Jack Webster.

Webster, whose nightly hour-long reports on CJOR of the probe are heard widely, was speaking to the luncheon at the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

He also separately attacked the "appalling apathy of Canadians in tolerating lack of integrity shown by elected officials in government office."

On the police probe which started July 5 and is now in its seventh adjournment, Webster said: "With great respect to Commissioner Tupper, and despite all the explanations he has given, I am still puzzled by some aspects of the conduct of the probe."

"I am at a complete loss to understand why one witness (Helen Elizabeth Douglas, the woman who alleged in court she received money from Chief Constable Mulligan) was allowed to appear in court in a disguise."

"Surely a basic tenet of justice is that a person accused is entitled to see his accuser face to face—without false wigs, or exaggerated make-up."

"A disguised witness to me, is bound to lessen in some respects the responsibility the witness feels."

"In the extreme, this performance, to me, could be compared to a recanted terrorist in Kenya with a hood over his head, walking down the compounds and pointing out the 'baddies'."

"Secondly," added Webster, "such have been the delays in the public business of the Commission—and it's easy to be wise with hindsight, that I can't help feeling that the best conduct of the probe might have been a two or even three-month delay from the original appointment of the Commission to allow counsel and the RCMP to complete all their investigations before a single witness was heard.

Canada Recognition for Red China Discussed in Peiping by Sinclair?

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Diplomatic sources here said today that Fisheries Minister Sinclair of Canada had informally discussed Canadian recognition of Communist China with Red officials in Peiping last week.

(At Ottawa Prime Minister St. Laurent told The Canadian Press today he does not know whether Fisheries Minister Sinclair discussed Canadian recognition of Red China during a visit to Peiping last week.)

Sinclair passed through Peiping Sept. 14 after visiting Moscow to attend international whaling commission talks and touring Russia.

The sources said that though Sinclair travelled through Communist China on his way home as the "fastest route," he had intended visiting Peiping after his Russian tour in any case.

The sources said that before Sinclair left Ottawa in July for Moscow, he received the Canadian government's approval to meet Chinese foreign office officials. An extension of his Russian tour to include Communist China had been suggested by the Russian ambassador in Ottawa.

The sources added that despite a broken leg, suffered in a fall during a fisheries inspection at the Siberian port of Petropavlovsk, Sinclair carried out "informal discussions" and answered questions regarding recent speeches by External Affairs Minister Pearson about Canada's interest in the Far East.

The sources said nothing definite was discussed, but the climate "indicates the possibility of something definite next year."

Sinclair and his department aide, Alistair Fraser, arrived in Tokyo tonight from Hong Kong en route to Vancouver.

Sinclair limped from the plane and walked with a cane. He and Fraser will leave for Vancouver by plane Saturday night.

Flash Reporter Takes Probe Stand Friday

Ray Munro Must Show Cause Why He Shouldn't Be Committed for Contempt

VANCOUVER (CP) — The often-interrupted Tupper commission inquiry into the conduct and administration of Vancouver's 750-man police force has been adjourned again. It will reconvene here Friday, for its 28th sitting, with reporter Ray Munro on the stand to show cause why he should not be "committed for contempt."

Mr. Munro and Flash, the Toronto tabloid for which he writes, were cited for contempt over an editorial early in the hearings. No penalty was ordered at the time.

Last week, T. G. Norris resigned as counsel for police chief Walter Mulligan. Subsequently, he had Mr. Munro called to the witness box to answer questions about an article in Flash which Mr. Norris said was a veiled threat to "black-mall" him on his private life.

When the reporter declined to answer "on the ground that it might incriminate me," the lawyer called him "a cowardly cur."

Tuesday's 27th sitting of the marathon probe was occupied with testimony by seven detectives, a former police officer and a police magistrate.

INVESTIGATION ORDERED
An investigation was ordered into the 1949 promotion of Robert Leatherdale, from detective to detective-sergeant in charge of the liquor squad.

Commissioner Tupper directed his counsel, J. G. A. Hutcheson, to make the investigation. "This could be an important point," the royal commissioner said.

Detectives Jim Frew, Bill Porteous, Albert Steen, A. Shretlen, John Grimson, Bill Dumaresq and Thomas Stokes and former detective Neil Macdonald were called to testify by H. Lyle Jettley, counsel for police superintendent John Horton.

At one point Tuesday, Mr. Tupper said to Det. Dumaresq: "You have been 22 years on the police force. Have you ever heard of anyone attempting to fix a ticket?"

"... There was the odd case of a traffic officer... Have you ever heard of bribes being offered on other things?"

"No," the officer said, "I've never heard of that."

"Then," replied the commissioner, "our underworld must be incorruptible in that regard."

TO QUESTION WOMAN
Next week, Mr. Tupper said, he would like to hear John G. Jay Gould's cross-examination of witnesses. Mr. Gould took over from Mr. Norris as chief Mulligan's counsel.

He has still to cross-examine Det. Sgt. Robert Leatherdale, who said the chief offered him a sergency for a pledge of engaging in graft and that he declined.

Det. George Kitson, who said he quit the gambling squad after hearing of pay-offs.

Insp. John Dunn, passed over in traffic department promotion.

Helen Elizabeth Douglas, who said she and Chief Mulligan had a five-year association from 1944 to 1949 and that he gave her expensive presents and took her on a cross-country trip to a

NO UN SEAT FOR PEIPING

Mild Molotov Loses Again

By JACK BEST

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN General Assembly opened Tuesday in an atmosphere of hope and cordiality seldom equalled in its 10-year history.

Bolstering the feeling of cautious optimism that prevailed prior to the opening was the unusually mild tone in which Foreign Minister Molotov presented Russia's unsuccessful case for the seating of Red China.

Observers were impressed by the fact that Molotov attacked neither the United States nor Nationalist China. The harshest statement he made was that Nationalist China's delegation "does not represent anyone."

The Canadian delegation commented hopefully on Molotov's restraint. "The acrimony of debate and vituperation of discussion which characterized a similar debate at the last opening was not present today on the part of the Soviet Union," said Health Minister Martin, chief Canadian representative.

Martin said the tenor of the discussion showed "that there is a disposition at the present time to maintain the spirit engendered at the Geneva conference."

DIDN'T WASTE TIME

Molotov took the floor soon after delegates from 60 nations convened for the 10th session of the assembly. He challenged Nationalist China's right to a seat and proposed Communist China be seated in its place.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. delegate, moved that the Chinese question be shelved for this session. Lodge won a procedural vote under which his motion was considered first, then the assembly adopted the American resolution on China, 42 to 12, with six abstentions. Canada voted with the U.S.

It was the sixth straight year a Soviet move to seat Red China had been defeated at the assembly's opening.

Among those supporting the U.S. Tuesday was Britain, which recognizes the Peiping regime. India and Yugoslavia voted against the U.S.

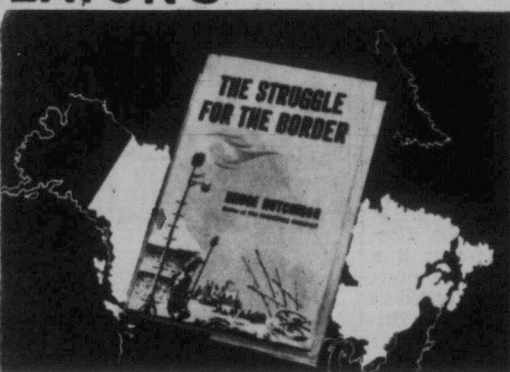

Jose Maza, veteran Chilean parliamentarian and leader of his country's delegation, was unanimously elected president of the assembly to succeed Dr. Eelco van Kleffens of The Netherlands.

First item of business today will be the election of seven vice-presidents and chairmen of the assembly's seven main committees. Later, the meeting may deal with the Cyprus question, which Greece is seeking to get inscribed on the agenda. Britain likely will oppose inscription on grounds that discussion would tend to inflame the situation in her Mediterranean island colony.

The Inconvertible Pound

BRITAIN HAS ENDURED THREE economic crises since the last war—in 1947, 1949 and 1951. The financial editors of London now ask if a fourth crisis is ahead. This must sound like an odd question to a people who are living on average better than ever, in a nation which seems abundantly prosperous. But it is a valid question just the same.

Britain's gold and dollar reserves—the capital of the whole sterling area—dropped by $218 millions in the first seven months of this year to a figure of $2.5 billions. The amount of this change is not as significant as its direction. Where the reserves were increasing they are now declining, and they measure the failure of exports to keep up with imports.

Such conditions produced the former crises and various drastic remedies. It does not follow, of course, that anything so serious will occur now but it is clear that Britain has begun again to live beyond its means. This process is temporarily disguised by a formidable inflation as the home market uses goods that should be exported to pay for essential foreign goods.

Mr. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, may say that the budgetary remedies applied some months ago and recently strengthened have not been given time enough to work. His increased interest rates have reduced bank loans and hence an expansion of credit but his pre-election tax reductions have increased the public's purchasing power and demand for goods. Whether Mr. Butler will be compelled to apply more drastic remedies, including new taxes, in a special autumn budget remains to be seen.

One fact, however, is clear already—Britain has abandoned for the visible future any thought of making its currency convertible into dollars.

A convertible pound has always been the object of British policy since the war but remains obviously impossible under existing conditions. Convertibility simply means that if a holder of pounds wishes to convert them into U.S. or Canadian dollars he can do so without question. Britain lacks enough dollars to supply such a demand, and its hopes of getting them have been rudely shaken by developments in the United States.

Before the pound can be made convertible Britain must have abundant dollars to resist the first shock of a heavy dollar demand and to sustain a continuing demand indefinitely. To get the dollars it must sell, directly or indirectly, in the American and Canadian markets.

While Canada has no new barriers in the way of British goods, their sale has been sharply declining here, mainly because they are being used at home.

The United States, however, has lately taken two notorious actions to curb British imports. It refused two British tenders on a large government power undertaking; it raised the tariff on British bicycles, a large earner of dollars, by 50 per cent.

This bad news from Washington has effectively destroyed any early hope of convertibility, even though no one has more vigorously advocated it than the American Government.

This country cannot escape the outcome of Britain's present difficulties. A shortage of dollars can mean only that Britain will try to hold down its dollar imports, including those from Canada.

At present Britain is buying here far more than it sells and has been carrying an unfavorable trade balance that cannot be maintained for long. Unless Britain's foreign exchange situation improves, Canada may expect a reduction in its sales to Britain, our second largest market.

Britain's domestic inflation, and protectionism in Washington, inevitably break national boundaries to injure good neighbors and the innocent bystanders.

One Revolt Too Many

THE SITUATION IN ARGENTINA is still not settled. The deposed President Juan Peron is in flight, apparently to Paraguay. A junta composed of four army generals is in control of the country, and negotiations are going forward between these leaders and the army and navy officers who led the four-day revolution.

But this picture could be radically altered. Ten years ago the great mass of Argentine workers staged a general strike that forced a military clique to release Peron and restore him to office. There are suggestions that this might happen again.

The question is whether or not the ex-President still commands enough influence among the workers, particularly now that he is without the benefit of the great popular support that was accorded his late wife. Reports from Buenos Aires indicate that the man-in-the-street appears happy at the turn of events.

For Juan Peron it could be the end of a long era of political prominence. For the last ten years he had been in the saddle in Argentina. He had survived numerous dangerous periods such as that in 1953, when runaway inflation and a major economic crisis aroused complaints and resentments in many quarters.

His reign had been marked by ever greater appeals to the "shirtless ones"—the great body of non-union workers who saw in him a chance for a better distribution of the country's wealth. But President Peron also found it necessary to impose ever greater restrictions. The press was muzzled—the great mouthpiece of freedom, La Prensa, was taken from its owners and placed under government control.

Only last June Peron survived another crisis, but the opposition had not finally been overcome and this week's events are really a continuation of the earlier uprising. On that occasion naval and air force planes bombed Buenos Aires, there was fighting in the streets of the capital, and numerous arrests.

The June revolt had an additional factor—the Church. The President came out openly against a number of Roman Catholic church and lay leaders and arrested many. He deported two Church dignitaries. In retaliation he was excommunicated—a blow which must have had profound effect throughout the Catholic population.

Peron won out in the fighting. The army remained predominantly loyal. But it was only a temporary victory. A few days ago the assault was renewed by naval units, and because of "his love for his people" the President stepped down.

It may well be that he fully intends to step back up as soon as the opportunity occurs. But like all dictators he can only offer the people more of the same. He must exert an ever tighter grasp, ever stricter controls, ever more naked power. This is the history of dictatorships, and Peron cannot escape the trend.

Apart from the President's personal fortunes, the country itself is in an unenviable position. For the moment it is ruled by the military—not an attractive prospect. Throughout the Peron regime it has seen political opposition dwindle in the face of dictatorial ambition. Liberal politics have been driven underground and there must be a long process of restoration before democracy can flower in Argentina.

Col. Peron will be remembered, beyond doubt, but not with the gratitude he might desire.

Warnings on Pollution

VANCOUVER HAS BEEN ADVISED by the sewer commissioner that its beaches may be closed to swimmers in the next few years because the bacteria count in the water is rising.

It is to be hoped that our friends across the gulf take note of the warning and plan a course which will avoid the growing danger of pollution. A similar procedure is required in Victoria.

Already one waterfront area here carries warning signs advising prospective bathers to stay out of the water because it is contaminated by sewage. As population increases the degree of contamination will increase unless action is taken.

The problem will not catch the city by surprise. It knows from its experience at the Gorge how neglect in providing proper methods of sewage disposal can rob a community of highly valuable assets. And what happened at the Gorge could, over the years, happen around the waterfront.

When the danger was somewhat more acute Victoria installed a comminuter for its sewer outfall at Ross Bay. That lessened the concentration of contamination but it did not cure the condition entirely. To eliminate the trouble another installation is required—a type of chlorinating system which would render the sewage harmless. Such equipment would, of course, cost money to install and maintain. But unless it is installed the warning given to Vancouver by its commissioner could equally well be applied to the capital.

The Three Musketeers

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

DO YOU KNOW that big fat blue volume of British Columbia place names? It is part of the complete Gazetteer of Canada, but I think I'm right in saying only two volumes have been published so far . . . B.C., with a 650-page effort, and southwestern Ontario, with a miserable little of cotton-candy pamphlet whose pages aren't even numbered but which is only about five-sixteenths of an inch thick. The B.C. is an inch and a half, and must contain well over 20,000 place names. . . about 40 to the page, for 640 pages. It makes me slightly dizzy, but I like reading it.

It is published by the Queen's Printer at Ottawa, by authority of the Canadian Board on Geographical Names, but the manuscript was prepared in Victoria by the Department of Lands and Forests. And the boys made a pretty good job of it, too. Incidentally, the book was published over two years ago, and it said "Price $1.00" on the cover. It still says that on the cover, but in the Annual Catalogue of Canadian Government Publications for 1954, it says "$2.00 per copy." When I ordered my copy I ended by paying $3.00, but maybe I already owed the Queen's Printer a dollar for something else. Never mind, I've had seven or eight dollars' worth of fun out of the book, and it's good for some small change yet.

IT TELLS YOU names you won't find on the maps. Not on any ordinary maps, anyhow. Very few maps would tell you about Preamble Creek or Poignant Creek, for example. Or Skunko Creek, or the Slamegash River, or Skwum Creek and Skwim Lake. (I suppose Skwum is the past tense of Skwim?) Some of the names are distinctly silly, and a serious map-maker might well refuse to write them down. . . Mount Ick, for example, and Periodical Creek, and Peep o' Day Creek (ouch!), and Piggly Creek, and Piebiter Creek, and Piglog Creek. . . I don't even know what a piglog is, nor do I want to, much.

BUT THE Canadian Board on Geographical Names is doing a good bit of work in discouraging one form of silly name, anyhow. It brands as undesirable the duplication of names within a province, especially descriptive names that aren't very fascinating anyhow. For instance, it is downright stupid to have seven Green Islands in B.C., and six Green Lakes, and six Green Mountains, and so on. The board says that unless there is strong local support for retaining such names, they should be dropped. Such names usually come from vegetation, animal life, or the shape or color of the topographical features. We have seven Grassy Islands, two Grassy Mountains, three Grassy Points. There are even three Grassy Creeks.

I'm scared to look and see how many places we have named after the poor old elk. (I have just peeked . . . there are over a dozen.) Twenty are named after the mosquito, including eleven Mosquito Creeks. Twenty-four after the moose. Thirty after the deer. There are eighteen Cedar creeks, plus other places with Cedar in them. As for bears . . . wow. Still, there is only one Rainip Lake, which is a blessing. And only one Classy Creek, fancy that.

OTHER principles of nomenclature listed by the Board are interesting, and some are even convincing. The Board doesn't like a geographical name to consist of both a man's Christian name and his surname. It looks and sounds ludicrous. Though not so absurd as putting the man's rank into the geographical name . . . for example, in Mount Colonel Foster, which, on some maps (but not in this book) later got itself promoted to Mount General Foster, when W. W. Foster himself was promoted. The Antarctic Continent is plastered with full names, and sometimes a middle initial, which is silliest of all . . . "James W. Ellsworth Land" is about as foolish a name as you can give a place, and it is a vast territory at that.

ILL make at least one exception in the matter of full names, though. Ellet-Ringnes Island, in the Canadian Arctic, is a lovely name. Half its charm would be lost if you dropped the "Ellet." Ten-nyson (was it?) heard the horns of elfland faintly blowing. On Ellet-Ringnes Island, I have not the slightest doubt, you can hear the bells of elfland faintly ringing. Perhaps I have told you this before. If so, let me tell you again, for it is a magic name.

The Gazetteer gives you the exact location of each place mentioned, but it has no room for telling you the origin and meaning of the name. Which is a great pity. What in the world is Polemonium Ridge, near Garibaldi Lake? For all I know, polemonium is only an obscure mineral. But it sounds like a rare disease, or perhaps a terrific fight between polecats, a real old polecat pandemic. I'd like to see this thing cleared up, please. As for Skinkettle Inlet and the Toddogone River, I am all agog.

ROYALTY

EACH time I see those not very beautiful ships, the Princess of Nanaimo and the Princess of Vancouver, I wonder who the original princesses were. The Princess of Vancouver may possibly have been Pauline Johnson. I have one or two ideas about who the Princess of Nanaimo was, but you'd laugh if I told you. So would I.

As Our Readers See It

What Happened at Ottawa

Many people would like to know the truth concerning the expulsion of the B.C. Conservative Leader, Deane Finlayson, from the Conservative National Executive meeting in Ottawa, hence this letter for public information.

Deane Finlayson, the elected leader of the Conservative Party of B.C., was sent to Ottawa with unanimous instructions from the members of the B.C. Conservative Association to call for a National Conservative Convention as soon as possible. On the day before the executive meeting, in Ottawa, he was told, both by some of the Conservative members of Parliament and the press, that regardless of the justice of his cause, he would be expelled from the meeting the next day.

For reasons which may well be imagined, the following Conservative executive members did not attend the pre-arranged meeting: John Diefenbaker, western Canada's leading Conservative; Duff Roblin, Manitoba Conservative leader; A. Mackenzie, president of the Ontario Conservative Association; Leslie Frost, premier of Ontario; Hugh Flemming, premier of New Brunswick, and many other persons of national reputation. Less than 50 per cent of the national executives were there.

On the day of the meeting, owing to the determined insistence of the national president, Mr. George Hees, and only then, was Deane Finlayson permitted to present B.C.'s case to the delegates. The cause of the B.C. Conservative Association was so obviously a just one that even the pledged delegates were wavering before the presented truth.

At this point, Mr. Howard Green, MP for Vancouver-Quadra, announced in words to the effect, that if the motion to expel Mr. Finlayson did not pass, he and his colleagues (G. R. Pearkes, MP, and E. D. Fulton, MP) would resign their seats in the House of Commons. By this open intimidation, by this cowardly manoeuvre, unjust and un-Canadian, the expulsion of the B.C. Conservative leader was forced.

How do matters stand today? First, the vote of no confidence in George Drew still holds; second, the B.C. Conservative Association, acting under its legal authorized constitution, must run candidates in both federal and provincial elections; third, the B.C. Conservative executive meeting held in Vancouver, July 30, passed an unanimous vote of confidence and loyalty in the present B.C. Conservative leader, Deane Finlayson.

Creates a New Situation

West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer has come back from Moscow, travelling light as far as diplomatic gains are concerned. From the guarded statements he made before he left his own capital, Bonn, for Moscow, he didn't expect very much from the present inmates of the Kremlin. He probably got less than he expected and the price he had to pay for it was exorbitant; as far as the promised release of the German prisoners of war is concerned—a humanitarian duty long overdue—Adenauer had to submit to extortion.

The Communists may have changed their appearance and their tactics. Their new striped pants and conventional smiles which are replacing the proletarian tunic and brusque "Niets" of their immediate diplomatic past indicate a new policy of passing from the indiscreet flow of vodka, which made Krushchev notorious at Belgrade in Yugoslavia, to the more genteel champagne wine of Geneva, Bulgaria's secret weapon to gain diplomatic respectability.

Anybody familiar with the new pattern of Russian diplomacy could have foretold not only the outcome of the Russo-German conference in Moscow, but also the aims and objectives which the Kremlin hoped to achieve in this manoeuvre of inviting the heads of West Germany's government to Moscow, to prove to the world that the unification of Germany at this time would only endanger the peace of the world, the maintenance of which is Russia's responsibility as self-appointed, sole custodian and arbiter. Actually it is the old Roman maxim: "Divide and Rule," so successfully imitated into this day even by good Christian "democratic" nations.

Most important is the moral victory which Konrad Adenauer achieved over his Russian opponents at the conference table when voices were raised in recrimination over past policies of the two nations. It was there that Chancellor Adenauer could remind Bulganin, Krushchev and Molotov, that whilst they themselves were plotting with Hitler and the Nazis the attack on Poland leading to the Second World War, Adenauer as Lord Mayor of Cologne was paying for his opposition to Hitler with prison and exile.

While Russians and Germans may lick their diplomatic wounds or adjust their laurels to fit propaganda size, the real losers of the conference seem to be the American commentators who apparently are lost in a political wilderness. The accumulated propaganda phrasology which has served them so well and has paid reportorial dividends through world wars and disturbances of various temperaments is becoming meaningless in the present politico-psychological upheaval.

The report of French soldiers refusing to embark for the North African colonies shouting "Morocco for the Moroccans," German divines exhorting their congregations from pulpits that the atom bomb makes conscientious objection to war a Christian duty, creates a new situation in which a little knowledge of history and sociology would be worth all the abusive propaganda which has been the sole stock-in-trade of many a commentator during the recent tragic years of long-suffering humanity.

The One-Man Band

By STEPHEN L. DEBALTA, from Washington

THE state of suspended animation, in which the capital of the United States had been languishing since both the President and Congress had deserted Washington for more pleasant abodes, was abruptly broken last week when the National Republican Committee contrived a new strategic gimmick in the age-old game of politics. The party's 48 state chairmen were brought to Washington for a week-long seminar on the best ways and means to win an election. Experts in various fields of campaign skulduggery proceeded to teach these wide-eyed students how to pick a sure-fire candidate, how to obtain contributions, how to forge striking battle slogans, how to behave before the mike and the TV camera and how to impress the voters with lavish promises.

Not the slightest details in campaign technique have been overlooked, from a picturesque display of typographical mastheads in printed posters to a dazzling variety of colors and materials for badges and buttons. A cynical Democrat remarked that this scholarly curriculum was only lacking in a substantial program of political issues.

The vaudeville oration was delivered by none other than President Eisenhower himself. The graduates were flown in a chartered plane to Denver, where the party's nominal head entertained them at breakfast.

The ebullient enthusiasm of the grass root party, which has been working up a high pitch in Washington, was unexpectedly doused by what like had to tell them. In response to their clamors, urging him to seek re-election in 1956, he bluntly cautioned the Republican party not to pin all its hopes on one man.

MORE THAN EVER

To make their demand more insistent, the state chairmen had wired him before leaving Washington: "We like Ike more than ever." This expansive token of adulation prompted Ike to retort: "We don't believe that the Republican party is so lacking in inspiration, high quality personnel and leadership that we are dependent on one man. Humans," he added, "are frail and they are mortal."

Pointedly, he concluded: "You never pin your flag so tightly to one man that if a ship sinks you cannot rip it off and nail it to another. It is good to remember that . . ."

Historians will search far and wide for a phase in our political life comparable to the present state of affairs, when the fate of the nation is being made contingent upon the assent of one man to govern it. The Republican leaders from the 48 states of the Union have been unanimous in asserting their belief that unless Eisenhower agreed to seek a renewal of his mandate the Democrats would come back into power.

Ike's popularity is also facing some pusillanimous members of the opposition who believe that he cannot be defeated. Meanwhile, the cynosure of the Republican hopes is successfully eluding the inquisitiveness of his most intimate friends, leaving professional prognosticators free to practise their gams as 'political oracles.'

One as close to the President as Vice-President Nixon himself emerged the other day from an hour-long talk with the Chief, predicting that the "boss" will run, but insisting at the same time that his was only a "personal hunch" and not a sure thing.

In Nixon's case it also may be mere wishful thinking for he is sure to be Ike's running mate, despite some vigorous opposition that has recently developed among right-wing Republicans. However, Eisenhower's invincibility as a candidate for re-election in 1956 is slowly becoming a moot eventually, even in the mind of some of his partisans. The American electorate has proven to be a most fickle lot and the remembrance of the 1948 "miracle" is still very much alive, when President Truman had retired early on election night as a beaten candidate only to be told in the morning that he had been re-elected.

THE BIG BOOM

Republicans are staking their victory on the present economic situation, which they have translated into a high-sounding slogan: "Everything is booming, except the guns."

Their claims of widespread prosperity are being challenged by the opposition with official figures showing that the number of bankruptcies in small business is on the increase. The alarming dip in the farmers' income, which has dropped as much as 20 per cent since the present administration came to power in 1953, is acknowledged by both parties as a leading issue in the next election and the Republicans do not attempt to conceal their concern on this score.

Organized labor adds its quota of headaches to the supporters of the President, who is threatened with the defection of twenty million unionized wage earners and their families at the polls.

We are almost a year away from both party conventions, when the nation will be presented with the choice of renewing the mandate of Dwight D. Eisenhower, if he chooses to ask for it, or selecting a Democrat as his successor. For all intents and purposes the battle already is on, even though the identity of the contestants is not yet known.

Both parties, however, proceed on the assumption that General Eisenhower will seek re-election on his record, which the opposition is already assailing with a fiery vigor, out of all proportion to the remoteness of the actual electoral season.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

The idea of general historical deterioration is as false, I believe, as the idea of general historical progress. As time goes by, things get better for some people and worse for others, people's consciences get more tender in some respects and less tender in others. The Good Old Days were also Bad Old Days, which they were depends entirely on the point of view from which one sees them.

Canadian Radio Drama Tops

LONDON—Last evening my wife and I were going out to visit friends. Just before we were leaving I remembered that the BBC had announced that they would be broadcasting a recording of a Canadian play called "The Investigator."

Reyburn

I said to my wife: "You go on ahead. I'd better catch a bit of this play, to see what it's like."

I eventually joined her at the house of our friends—over an hour late. I learned that you don't just "catch a bit" of "The Investigator." If you once start listening, you must hear it through.

Doubtless there are few of you who don't know about this radio play by Reuben Ship, produced by Andrew Allen, with John Drainie in the leading part. Since it was first produced in Canada in May of last year and then had a big sale as a commercial record in the States and Canada, tidbits of news about it had drifted over to this side of the Atlantic.

Further interest was aroused, after the BBC announced they were going to give it an airing, when the BBC head of feature programs, Laurence Gilliam, wrote things like this about it: "The Investigator" is one of the most brilliant pieces of writing and production I have ever heard on sound radio.

No summary can do justice to the satiric brilliance and deadly verisimilitude of this contemporary cartoon in sound. It is yet another indication of the vitality and incisiveness that skilled writing, production and acting can give to radio in the hands of professional practitioners.

Having now heard it myself, I echo that word "brilliant"—even though it's a bit late in the day to pass that opinion on to Canada.

dians, who by now have for a long time heard it praised glowingly on both sides of the border. But what might interest you is the reaction of people here who heard it and to whom I have talked about it.

First and foremost, what struck them was its impact. You see, in England people are accustomed to a pretty dreamy approach to radio drama. Those responsible for it here seem incapable of thinking far beyond putting a microphone in front of a stage play.

The approach to drama on the air is conventional in the extreme. One merely gets a straight play with the various scenes broken up by hunks of dead air. Rarely does a radio writer or producer look upon the medium as something radically different from the theatre and take advantage of the effects that can be gained with a microphone.

Since you are accustomed to the outstanding things CBC writers, actors and producers have been doing it is hard to get across to you how different a play like "The Investigator" sounds to British ears. It seems revolutionary, as though a new approach to radio drama has just been invented. To name only one aspect—music. Lucio Agostini's score for "The Investigator" was superb.

The musical punctuation heightened the humor, pointed the satire and kept the whole thing going at a lively clip. In Britain they don't use music in radio plays, completely ignoring its value for setting a mood and for linking fast-moving scenes. One has a feeling that BBC drama producers are of the opinion that to use music would be cheating.

Listeners here, after hearing "The Investigator," are ready to agree with a view that has always been regarded as a fact in Canada—while London and New York can claim top honors in the live theatre, Canada runs rings around other nations when it comes to radio drama.

New Unit To House 50 Aged

Kiwanis Village To Get Addition

Construction of a $150,000 to $175,000 building which will accommodate 50 aged single men and women is planned by the Victoria Kiwanis Village Society.

Suggested site for the building is property adjoining the present Kiwanis Village on Cedar Hill Road.

It will likely be called "Kiwanis Villa." At an annual general meeting Tuesday night, members asked the board of directors to make a complete study of the proposed plan.

They are to report their findings to a general meeting soon. The block would be constructed to accommodate aged men and women who are unable to enter present aged women's home and men's home due to lack of facilities.

It would also prove an outlet for residents of Kiwanis Village who become widows or widowers.

ALL-FAITHS CHAPEL
Under the present plan, "Kiwanis Villa" would have dining room facilities, a large recreation room and an all-faiths chapel.

Society president Ed Mallek said the aged women's home has a waiting list.

"This project would be built something on that style," he said.

In his annual report, the president said there are now 38 well-built and economical homes constructed in Kiwanis Village.

Planting of shrubs and trees in the village is expected to be completed this fall.

The village was built at a cost of $200,000. The amount, one-third was contributed by the provincial government, 18 1/2 per cent realized through public donations, 25 per cent raised through efforts of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria and 23 per cent by a mortgage.

DEBT LOWER
The society now owes $69,000 on construction of the village, less than was first expected.

Mr. Mallek pointed out that this year taxes on the property will amount to $3,656, which will be paid to the city.

Over a span of 50 years the city will realize $167,000 revenue in taxes from the village, he said.

The property was valued at $1,900 by the city three years ago.

Deputy provincial secretary R. A. Pennington told the group it is doing a tremendous job. "The movement is growing throughout the province," he said.

Mr. Mallek was re-elected president, with vice-president Reg Harris and secretary-treasurer Glen Hope also being re-elected to office.

Re-elected to serve three-year terms on the board of directors were R. M. Lochhead, Harvey Bailey and F. L. Shaw.

Mr. Hope, Mr. Harris and Cy Williams will serve on the board for two more years, while Mr. Mallek, W. T. Strath and C. E. Craig have one year to complete in office.

ROMANCE STORY READY SOON?

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Sketch says a high-level statement is being prepared "to tell the truth about Princess Margaret's reported romance with Group Capt. Peter Townsend."

The newspaper says it is reported Margaret "intends to marry the group captain as soon as possible."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Mentally Disturbed Persons

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

The U.S. National Association for Mental Health (1790 Broadway, New York, 19) has just put out a booklet written primarily for police officers: a booklet (65 cents) which tells them how to recognize and handle abnormal persons, and persons who are mentally ill. It can be of great help, also, to persons who have relatives who are becoming disturbed.

In the first chapter there is a list of symptoms commonly observed in persons who are going insane. First, the person may show big changes in behavior. Often, the family will say, "True, he was always a bit eccentric and peculiar, but he never before was as bad as this." The man may change entirely so that, perhaps formerly frugal, he now is spending money freely; or, formerly irreligious, he is now going to church twice on Sunday and insisting that everyone else go with him.

Second, the man may have strange losses of memory; at times he may get confused as to who he is or where he is or what day it is. Third, he may develop grandiose ideas about himself. He may think he is very rich and very prominent. Fourth, he may think people have it in for him and are plotting against him. He may be sure that the man in the next farm is controlling his brain by means of radar. He may think people always are watching him or talking about him. He may think announcers over the radio are talking directly to him. I remember a file girl in a big office who quit her job because she thought every time she went to get a drink of water everybody in the place stopped to watch her closely. Fifth, he may talk to himself or hear voices. Sixth, he may see visions; he may smell queer odors, or he may have aches and pains and queer feelings all over his body. Seventh, he may start acting in peculiar ways: He may become quarrelsome, or so talkative that he wants to sit up all night with people. He may write letters 40 pages in length.

ARGUMENT USELESS

Usually it is of little use to argue with these people and to tell them they are all wrong, because the impressions they have are very real to them.

In Chapter II it is pointed out that most persons who are becoming mentally deranged are not violent and not dangerous; they are still amenable to kindly treatment. Many a time patients have brought me a psychotic relative who had badly beaten a detective who had been hired by the family to shanghai him into a mental hospital; he was thought to be dangerous; yet with me he was perfectly calm and friendly. Why? Because he sensed I was friendly and honest with him.

and was treating him as if he was perfectly sane.

Many a time, after a chat with me, such a patient has packed his bag and gone off to the mental hospital all by himself; he had agreed with me that he needed treatment, and protection for himself and his family. As Dr. Matthews says in this booklet, a policeman must remember that often mentally disturbed persons start to fight simply because they are so confused and frightened by the people around them. They don't know what is going on. An attendant in a hospital or a policeman should always explain to a psychotic man why he is being asked to do a certain thing. Commonly, if he understands what is going on, he will co-operate. If he does not understand and gets frightened, he may "fight" like a wild cat. Members of the family of a mentally disturbed person must be very careful to be absolutely honest with him. If he deceives him and try to shanghai him into a mental hospital, it may be years before he trusts them again, or is sure that they are his people.

Many persons should know how to recognize a depressed or melancholic person who, perhaps, feels unworthy or feels that in some way he has sinned. He may feel he should be punished, or he may feel that the best way out for himself and the family is through suicide.

PSYCHOPATHIC PERSONALITIES

Chapter V in the booklet is on psychopathic personalities. My heart goes out to any family who has a member who has a psychopathic personality because, for as long as he lives, they are likely to have nothing from him but worry, grief, shame and expense. For the rest of his days the person will keep getting into scrapes. He will be aimlessly stealing cars, or swindling people out of small amounts of money, or getting drunk, or raising Cain, or running up bills. These people seem unable to exercise any self control; they never learn from experience; like small children they do what they want to do the minute they want to do it, and they do it without any concern over the fact that soon they will be arrested. They have no shame. They have no plans for the future, and they never think of settling down, of succeeding in business, of supporting themselves and of having a home and wife and children. They are so ingratiating when they want to be that kindly people pick them up and try hard to rehabilitate them. But they always fail. These psychopaths get arrested time and again until the police and the local judge gets so fed-up with them that they refuse any longer to arrest them, and send them to a mental hospital. But, at the mental hospital the superintendent soon says, "This fellow is as sane as I am; I cannot legally hold him, and I don't want him here." These people have been well described by Professor Cleckley, of Georgia, in a book called, "The Mask of Sanity," (Mosby).

Winch Raps Drew Remarks

VANCOUVER (CP) — A CCF member of Parliament said here Tuesday George Drew is as "politically and mentally dead as the Conservative party in British Columbia."

Harold Winch, CCF member for Vancouver-East, said Mr. Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, fails to realize Canada is already represented by a two-party system of government.

The CCF member was commenting on Mr. Drew's statement here Monday night that "the CCF party hasn't a chance to form a national government with only two members east of Manitoba."

"There is no difference between the Conservatives and the Social Credit parties—they both stand for private enterprise," said Mr. Winch. "The CCF is the only party opposed to Conservatives, Social Credit and Liberals."

"Mr. Drew," he said, "only proves his incompetence as a national party leader when he makes such statements. He is as politically and mentally dead as the Conservative party in B.C."

Singapore Blocks Communist Plotting

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — David Marshall, chief minister of Singapore's first elected government, today charged "international communism" is plotting to seize by violence this British crown colony.

The 47-year-old leader was introducing a public security bill in the crowded Legislative Assembly as riot squad police guarded all entrances. The bill would incorporate into the colony's laws many of the British anti-Communist emergency regulations.

Outside the building, hundreds of student demonstrators marched with banners denouncing the bill.

The chief minister told the assembly that any easing of anti-Communist laws in Singapore would be "a stab in the back" for the adjacent Federation of Malaya where the jungle war against the Communists has gone on for seven years.

To mixed cheers and boos, he declared: "We are not very hopeful that international communism will cease its efforts to obtain by violence control of this strategic island."

Englishmen Rated Tops —As Cads

LONDON (Reuters) — An American author, engaged on a world investigation into caddishness, reported Tuesday night that Englishmen were the world's "best cads."

This pronouncement came from blond, blue-eyed Frederick Spencer Theodore Asaph Elliot Peckham, 38, who gave a press conference on a milk bedspread he carries everywhere with him.

Peckham, "Call me Ted," defined a cad as "someone who doesn't really work and lives off charm, personality and sex."

He declared that, after three months touring Europe for material on a book about cads, he was convinced Englishmen were "easily" the best exponents.

CLASSIFIED BY COUNTRIES

Here were his views on the different types of cads he found in Europe:

Italians — The most romantic, but the most unfaithful.

Spaniards — Steadfast, keen on marriage, very jealous.

French — Wonderful lovers but too interested in money.

Germans — The worst dancers, most steadfast, most stubborn, most efficient. Good all-round cads.

Danish — The most promiscuous and the neatest—but no thought for a girl's feelings.

BUT ENGLISH TOPS

Ah, but the English cads! Here is how Peckham summed them up: The best type of drawing room charm and elegance. They have really developed the art of being charming cads. Well educated, of course. They are also the best dressed and have impeccable manners.

They are also the most accomplished at parlor games—black gammon and that sort of thing.

But Peckham, who made some $250,000 in four years hiring out gentlemen escorts to lonely ladies in the United States, had little good to say about the American cad.

They always were becoming filled with remorse, he complained. "They like to combine their caddishness with visits to the psychiatrist."

Forestry Hearings At Pr. George Delayed

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Date of hearings of the royal commission on forestry in Prince George has been set tentatively as Oct. 10. The hearings were to have opened Sept. 26 but a spokesman for commissioner Mr. Justice Sloan said judicial responsibilities caused postponement for at least three weeks.

Odds Jump On Marciano

'Boner' Postponement of Title Bout Makes Champion Prohibitive Choice

NEW YORK (UP)—The "boner" postponement that sends Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore into the ring tonight for their heavyweight championship fight left the odds unchanged at 4-1 but may boost the gate toward $900,000.

With the weather lifted by a forecast of "cool and fair," officials of the International Boxing Club figured today's rush of ticket-buyers might swell the crowd at Yankee Stadium to 70,000. Fresh sales were in the ratio of nearly 5-1 to refunds.

Despite challenger Moore's nervousness during yesterday's physical examination and the general belief that the 24-hour delay would bother him more than the "ice-cold" champion, the betting price remained static.

Unbeaten Marciano and the 38-year-old light heavyweight champion were slated for another physical exam today by Dr. Ira McCown, medical director for the N.Y. State Athletic Commission. But they need not undergo the ordeal of another weigh-in. The examinations will be made at their hotels.

Their respective trainers pointed out that the weights yesterday—Rocky 188½ and Archie 188—were about what was expected; for Moore had three cups of coffee about an hour before stepping on the scales, and Rocky ate a hearty breakfast after the 40 a.m. postponement announcement. Their expected weights at ringtime tonight, 10:45 p.m. (EDT), are 187 for the Brockton Blockbuster and 186 for

'Ione' Crossing Up Forecasters

Many boxing men figured promoter Jim Norris had "pulled a prize boner" yesterday when he deferred the fight 24 hours, because of a bad weather threat that never materialized. He announced the washout at 10 a.m., but less than an hour later the skies were clearing and Hurricane Tonia veered out to sea. It was the first time an important title bout had been postponed before the weigh-in.

Norris denied any boner. He explained: "I would do it again."

Grads Hold Reunion, Page Recalls Past

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Grads, the basketball team of the half-century in the city, held a banquet recently to mark the 40th anniversary of the club's founding.

During a 25-year period from 1915, the Grads won 502 of 522 games, four world crowns and the Underwood Trophy each time they played for it.

They held every women's basketball title in existence and were forced to disband in 1940

Trabert Admits Pro Net Offer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—U.S. tennis champion Tony Trabert admitted Thursday he has received an attractive offer—reported to be $80,000—to turn professional for promoter Jack Kramer.

Kramer added that he has also made offers to Australia's Davis Cup champions, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

Trabert, Cincinnati's U.S. and Wimbledon singles king, who is playing in the Pacific Southwest tournament here, said: "I have not come up with any decision."

Victoria West football club will hold a workout Thursday night at 6:30 at Central Park. All last year's players and anyone interested are invited to attend.

ROSEWALL, HOAD NOT INTERESTED?

Kramer Offers Trabert $80,000 to Turn Pro

LOS ANGELES (BUP)—United States singles champion Tony Trabert today considered an offer to turn professional which promoter Jack Kramer said guaranteed the amateur tennis star at least $80,000.

Trabert admitted Kramer had approached him regarding the pro tour. He refused to confirm, however, that Kramer offered him $80,000. Kramer claimed that was the amount he offered the Cincinnati, Ohio, player to turn professional.

Trabert currently is playing in the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament here.

Kramer said his offer to Trabert exceeded the one he made Australian Frank Sedgman when the latter turned professional. Sedgman was offered $75,000 or 30 per cent of the gate on the tour, Kramer said.

Kramer said he also had approached Australian Davis Cup stars Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, also playing in the Pacific Southwest tourney here, to join the pro tennis tour this winter.

"The offer I made Trabert is the highest. I believe in the history of professional tennis," said Kramer, one-time U.S. national champion and Davis Cup star.

He said Hoad and Rosewall wanted to talk the offer over with their parents before making a decision.

Archibald Moore of San Diego, Calif., and several other "home" cities.

Their only exercises slated for today were walks in different parks. Yesterday Rocky did two miles of roadwork in Bronx Park. Moore motored to Summit, N.J., and took a workout at Ehsan's camp. He did shadow-boxing, bag-punching and calisthenics. He returned to his New York hotel last night.

We had no choice. Forecasts from all weather bureaus—government, navy and flying fields—were hopelessly gloomy. And we were being bombarded by railroads and air companies for instructions whether to start their special flight trains and planes for New York.

He didn't want those hundreds of train and plane passengers to risk being stranded in the city last night without accommodations. And he wouldn't risk staging the fight in rain.

because of lack of competition. They were chosen the basketball team of the half-century in a Canadian Press poll.

BIG REUNION

The spirit of the club showed up when the Grads gathered for their anniversary reunion. Central figure at the banquet—sports highlight of Alberta's golden jubilee celebrations—was J. Percy Page, former coach and now leader of the Alberta Progressive Conservative party.

Twenty-six of the girls who made up the teams returned for the reunion.

Telling his girls "you all look the same to me as you ever did," coach Page picked out a few Grads highlights. He denied a popular story that he became coach on the toss of a coin.

He explained that when basketball was introduced to Edmonton, he offered a teacher colleague the choice of the girls' or boys' team. "My colleague took the boys—there were only 12—and left me the girls," Page recalled.

LEARNED QUICKLY

"Why did we break up? That is a question I am asked most frequently. It was extremely difficult to make ends meet in the later stages. Even the most loyal fans won't back games in which the decision is a foregone conclusion. Actually the competition was not good enough."

Top-seeded Tony Trabert of the United States resumes single competition today.

Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, second-seeded among the Americans and last year's winner, defeated Bill Quillian, Seattle, 6-4, 6-2, while Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., won from Ed Yeomans, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-2.

Goalkeeper Marcel Pelletier from last year's club will be back between the pipes, along with holdover defenceman Bill Davidson. Up front are last year's Colin Kilburn, Wayne Brown, Doug Anderson, Doug Macauley and Mark Marquess. In addition are Olson himself and Skip Teal, of Hershey last year.

During the regular season, clubs are limited to 13 players, exclusive of goalkeepers, and each club must carry three players under 23 years of age, who have played less than 30 games of professional hockey.

Blake took Jackie Leclair and Dickie Moore from the line with which Maurice Richard has been working—and gave the Rocket veteran centre Ken Modell and Dick Gamble as mates. Leclair has been slow rounding into shape.

Yankees Win Pair; Reduce Magic Number

By The Associated Press

Just a few days ago New York Yankees had to win all of their remaining 10 games for even a tie for the American League pennant. Now they can wrap it up by winning three-out-of-five.

It might not take even that much effort by the Yanks. Any combination of New York victories and defeats by second-place Cleveland Indians totaling three will do it.

Still, the Yankees don't have it hands down. They've won seven straight, matching their longest success streak of the season, and have gained three games on the Indians in the important "lost" column—but they still have five games left, one more at Washington tonight and four against the Red Sox in Boston.

The Senators, beaten 6-3 in the afternoon half of a day-night doubleheader Tuesday, gave the Yankees a fight before bowing 9-7 in the nightcap. Four New York relievers paraded to the mound to save starter Whitey Ford's 18th victory as the Nats scored six times in the last two innings.

TRIBE ALSO WINS

Cleveland, which went into a four-game slump after sweeping a pair from Washington, finally shook the slump with a 3-2 decision over Chicago as the White Sox officially fell out of the race.

The Indians, with four games left—another at Chicago tonight, then three against the Tigers at Detroit—have to win 'em all and hope.

Washington caught Ford by surprise with two runs in the eighth inning and it took Gary Coleman, Jim Konstanty, Gerry Staley and finally Tommy Byrne to get 'em back on the leash.

Carlos Paula, Washington right fielder, pushed the Yanks into their big lead with some shabby fielding. The rookie played a routine liner into a double in a three-run Yankee third. Then he kicked a bases-loaded single into a three-run hit and misplayed a hard liner into a triple in a six-run seventh.

The first game was easier for Yanks, although starter Don Larsen didn't last through the second inning. Reliever Tom Morgan, with help from Konstanty, got the decision. The Yanks scored three in the first off Maury McDermott, then scored the clincher in the third as Hank Bauer doubled and moved across on two long flies.

Cleveland held on as Early Wynn turned a 10-hitter into his 17th victory with some dandy clutch work. Bobby Avila tripled home two runs to break a 1-1 tie in the eighth and beat Billy Pierce.

Willie Mays hit his 49th and 50th home runs as New York Giants took two from Pittsburgh Pirates.

Previously signed were centres Dave Creighton and Bronco Horvath, obtained in a trade with Detroit earlier this year.

Furnishing him with an adding machine, a lead pencil, one of those monstrous IBM "magic brain" calculators, and an abacus, I put one of our better statisticians to work last week and yesterday, utterly fagged, he supplied me with the following facts and figures.

Magic Note to Run Saturday

This morning another one of my agents arrived, breathless, from Sandown with information to the effect that the field for the big race Saturday will be headed by Magic Note, who earned for herself in Vancouver the title of "Queen of the B.C. Turf." Claimed last year by Tommy Fenton for a piffing $1,000, the six-year-old mare has made money for her owner faster than he could have made it on the stock market. To date her record is almost unbelievable for a horse of her class. In 16 starting Saturday, has put up $64,000 in purse money.

With that kind of money to be won, there was no surprise when over 300 horsemen applied for the limited stall accommodation at Sandown and upwards of 14 jockeys announced their intention of riding here.

Seven races will be run daily from Monday to Friday for the two weeks, with eight races on each Saturday and the closing day, Oct. 10, Thanksgiving Day.

Minimum purse will be $600, with one race each day of at least $700, and on Saturdays and the holiday a feature race worth $900 or $1,000.

Some of the best sprinters in B.C. will be matching strides opening day in the inaugural feature, the British Columbia Handicap at six furlongs, and a sterling silver rose bowl which will be presented to the winner by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Her best run was in winning the S.W. Randall Plate at Exhibition Park for a purse of $5,000 added, bringing her total earnings for the year to more than $11,000.

Among other probable starters in Saturday's feature my agent says will be such well-tested sprinters as Rennerb, Pen Oracle, Sad-Henry, Cocos and Gordo Toro. The last-named will be new to most of you. He is a newcomer from the prairies who won the top race at the recently closed Calgary autumn meet; and you may paste in your hat the information that if they ship soundly, horses from a higher altitude are pounds better when they come down to the coast.

Rennerb, referred to above, was born, by the way, just a stone's throw from Sandown Park. He is the property of George Bremner (Rennerb spelled backward), well-known Island horseman.

George and his horse will be here with many other Island owners and their hostages to fortune, but I'll tell you about them another day.

Tackles Martin Ruby of Saskatchewan Roughriders and Buddy Tinsley of Winnipeg Blue Bombers were each fined $25 for fighting during a game at Winnipeg Sept. 12.

Calgary Stampeder tackle Ray Baillie was fined $25 for slugging during a game at Regina Sept. 10.

Edmonton Eskimo end Bob Heydenfeldt was reprimanded for arguing with officials during a game with Calgary at Edmonton Sept. 10.

Stampeder Injury List Not Serious

CALGARY (CP)—Officials of the Calgary Stampeder football club breathed a little easier Tuesday when they learned those on the casualty list following Monday night's game with the B.C. Lions were not as seriously injured as first feared.

Quarterback Don Klosterman, carried from the field on a stretcher when tackled in the late stages of the game, was suffering a badly wrenched back. He will not play Saturday against Edmonton Eskimos. X-rays revealed no broken bones.

Quarterback Bill Stevenson, who collapsed in the dressing room following the game, was found suffering a painful hip injury. The injury was described as not serious and it was expected he would be able to handle the signal-calling duties Saturday.

Import end Willie Roberts, also carried from the field late in the game, suffered a badly sprained ankle. It was not known when he will be able to return to the lineup.

Rocky To Retire?

NEW YORK (AP)—There is considerable talk going around that if heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano wins against Archie Moore, he'll retire. One of Marciano's close advisers said he wants to quit, that he's tired of the rugged training and life of a hermit that he must live while preparing for a fight, and that he has $500,000 in the bank.

With conservative estimates, he'd get a return of about $15,000 a year for life, the adviser said.

If Marciano decides to call it quits, the heavyweight division will be in sad shape. The only promising heavy is Floyd Patterson, the ex-Olympic champion, and he's a year or two away.

Sad Days Indeed For Tottenham Club

LONDON (CP)—Angry shareholders grilled the directors of Tottenham Hotspur football club Tuesday night in an effort to find out how the management expects to put the team back on the victory trail.

The session was one of the stormiest in the team's 73-year history. Spurs, who narrowly missed being relegated to the Second Division last year, have picked up only three points from eight matches and stand last in the 22-team standings.

Club chairman Walter Bearman, 82, said after the meeting that the London team is ready to spend £100,000 on new players if it can find the right ones. It lost money last year, through falling attendance and purchase of Irish player Danny Blanchflower for £30,000.

But it still ranks as one of the richest in the business.

ARSENAL SEEKING TALENT

Arsenal, another London team which is in 20th spot, is also willing to buy. Manager Tom Whittaker, who gave up bidding on

A first-class selling job by an energetic group of local tub-thumpers, has resulted in Victoria being readmitted to the Coast Soccer League.

The hope became an official reality Tuesday night in Vancouver when Bob Davison, vice-president of the newly formed Victoria city team, was told by CSL executive members that the final stamp of approval had been put on city's franchise request.

The previous Victoria team was dropped from the league after last season when they declined to play a post-season promotion relegation series with Vancouver Pilesters.

Davison told the meeting that the new Victoria entry would be financially strong and would meet all obligations. He disclosed that at least seven new players would be used on the club. Jim Lackie, one of Victoria's most active sports boosters, is president of the team, and Charlie Lewis, one of the guiding lights behind the Victoria and District Football Association for years, is team manager.

Victoria city will meet each of the other six teams three times, twice here and once on the mainland. First game of the home season will see city playing Pilesters here Oct. 8.

Other members of the league this year will be Pilesters, Vancouver St. Andrews, North Shore United, New Westminster Royals, Firefighters and Vancouver city.

The league this year has dropped the split-season, which saw first and second half winners declared. The clubs will play through a balanced schedule this year with a final winner being decided.

Manager Lewis has appealed to Victoria fans to get behind the club and keep the franchise in Victoria. He said today, "We would like to do for soccer fans what the Shamrocks are doing for their lacrosse fans—go right

Mrs. Mearns Gains Semis

Mrs. H. G. Mearns extended her chances of defending her Victoria Golf Club women's championship Tuesday when she defeated Mrs. A. Pigeon, 6 and 5 in the quarter-final.

The one-sided victory put the defending champion and tourney medalist in the semi-final with three other golfers.

Mrs. S. Weston entered the semis with a 2 up win over Mrs. V. Godfrey. Mrs. H. Will qualified with a 19th hole victory over Mrs. J. Proctor and Mrs. Harold Husband moved ahead by downing Mrs. J. Munro, 3 and 2.

Semi-final round was scheduled for this morning.

Slow Winter Growth Best for Pot Plants

The owner of a sunroom or the winter to keep the plants from wilting, choosing the morning of or unheated, may raise a batch of flowering pot plants for early spring.

Choose the easily grown annuals, which enjoy cool growing conditions and which normally bloom in early summer. Good subjects to start with are shizanthus (butterfly flower), dwarf centaurea (cornflower) nemesis and dimorphotheca (one of the South African daisies).

Sow the seed now, in pots or small boxes of moist sandy soil. The seedlings will be slow growing, but when large enough to handle prick off one to a two and a half-inch pot. Do not add any fertilizer at this time, the aim being to keep the plants from making any luxuriant growth during the winter months.

Most of the plants will remain in these small pots until about the end of January, but they must be inspected regularly to see that they do not become root bound. As soon as roots fill the pots, the plant must be shifted into a pot one size larger.

wilting, choosing the morning of or unheated, may raise a batch of flowering pot plants for early spring.

Keep frost off the plants with light coverings of paper, or cardboard over the glass, or some other means which you find satisfactory. Avoid high temperatures, but give all the light possible, turning the pots every two days if no overhead light is available.

By gradual moves, the plants should be in five-inch pots by mid-March.

Boot-Death Cheered By Crowd Court Told

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A witness testified at the preliminary hearing Wednesday of a 24-year-old hard-rock miner charged with murder here that a crowd of bystanders cheered on the accused in a fight in which a youth was beaten to death.

The witness testified as Robert Graham, 24, was committed for assize court trial in connection with the death of William Holman, 21.

George Burns, a witness who identified Graham as Holman's attacker, testified that Graham kicked Holman in the stomach "nine or 10" times during the brawl at Kitsilano beach Aug. 20.

Holman had fallen down while dodging a beer bottle thrown at him during an argument with a group of youths.

Another witness, Donald R. Harris, testified there was a large crowd standing around, but "they seemed to be cheering them on."

Probe Clears Council, Staff In N. Vancouver

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—An investigation into the North Vancouver municipal administration has cleared councillors and staff members of charges of profiting from sale of municipal lands.

W. K. Smith, department of municipal affairs official who conducted the investigation, said Tuesday some land transactions have not had unanimous council approval but all have been passed by a majority.

Mr. Smith said he found that firms in which former Reeve Grant Currie and Councilor Mort Reid have interests transacted business with the corporation.

The two men resigned from office when the question of their dealings with the municipality arose. Reeve Currie admitted his firm did about $60 worth of business with council in the last year.

Mr. Smith recommended a purchasing agent be hired and that the hiring of a planner to deal with the district's tremendous growth be considered.

Drug Suspect Refused Bail Pending Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert Tremblay, 33, of Montreal, charged with six others with conspiring to traffic in narcotics, was refused bail by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson in supreme court here Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Manson, following a protest by Tremblay's counsel, said he would grant bail if the preliminary hearing was not started by Sept. 27.

Tremblay previously was granted $20,000 bail on an attempted murder charge in the beating of Thomas Kinna.

Sentences which add up to more than 100 years in penitentiary so far have been given to convicted narcotics traffickers as the parade of suspects through police court continues. In one of the heaviest sentences ever struck at Canada's illicit narcotics trade, 18 men and women have been put behind bars for terms ranging up to 10 years. Others are awaiting trial.

Months of undercover work by two rookie police constables resulted in a mass roundup of 32 suspects Aug. 9.

Bank Robber Hadden Seeks New Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—Daniel Hadden, 39, convicted bank robber, requested a new trial Tuesday on a charge that he held up a West Vancouver branch of the Royal Bank of Canada last Dec. 3. He was sentenced to 15 years by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson in April.

The B.C. Court of Appeal judges asked the crown counsel to ascertain whether Mr. Justice Manson commented during Hadden's evidence that a man who has a criminal record has no character to lose.

Hadden claimed the trial judge made such a statement.

if it's real* rye

it should say so on the label

If these men are discussing rye, at least one of them will be surprised to find his brand doesn't say "rye" on the label. Real rye whiskey is made principally from rye grain and the label should say so. Look at the label of your brand—you may be missing something!

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

You, too can be a Weatherman. Starting September 28, at Victoria College, you can learn the ins, outs, and roundabouts of weathermaning, with none other than our own Weather-weary Willie Mackie on the rostrum.

But I suspect Weather-weary Willie may forget to tell you how to be a Weatherman when a Weatherman is on holiday.

Thus Between Times presents its very own pre-weather course, entitled: "What does a Weatherman do when a Weatherman is on holiday?"

The first thing he does is choose the very best two weeks out of the whole year.

Having chosen them, the Weatherman who lives in Victoria decides there is no place better than Victoria, then why should he go anywhere else for his holiday?

He then informs his wife, Muriel; his son, Lorne (9), and his daughter, Janice, (6), he is spending his holiday at home.

After this announcement is received with cheers, huzzahs, and other exclamations of acclamation, the Weatherman settled down to enjoy his holiday.

On the first day, his wife wakes him, says: "Bill, have a peek outside and see what kind of a day it is."

And Bill, the Weatherman, says: "Please do not ask me what kind of a day it is, can't you see I am on holiday and do not wish to be bothered with business?"

On the second day his wife says: "Bill, the sun is shining, there is a nice breeze blowing. Seeing we are going to stay home on our holiday, could we take the rugs and drapes out for an airing, or will the sun stop shining and the breeze stop blowing?"

And Bill, the Weatherman says: "Sun, breeze, how should I know, I am on holiday."

On the third day, his son, Lorne, says: "Hey, how's about a swim today, you think the water's warm enough, huh?"

And Bill, the Weatherman says: "On my holiday, I should know about water temperatures?"

On the fourth day Janice, his daughter, says: "Daddy, I think I might have a tea party for my dolls in the garden but do you think it will rain please?"

And Bill, the Weatherman says: "Come rain, come shine, come hail, come snow, I'm on my holiday, so how should I know?"

On the fifth day, a neighbor, chances by and sees Bill stretched out in the hammock, absorbing the afternoon sun. "Lovely day, eh Bill?" inquires the neighbor.

"How should I know?" says Bill. "I'm on holiday."

On the sixth day, the Weatherman's wife says: "Bill, you being at home and all, don't you think this would be a good day to mow the lawn?"

And Bill says: "On the contrary, there is an indication of cumulo mululobus with a slight disturbance moving southward from the Gulf of Alaska, a falling glass, indications of heavy precipitation in the low-lying areas followed by high winds from a storm centre in mid-Pacific which, taken all in all, would suggest lawn mowing is inadvisable at this point."

And his wife says: "But Bill, I thought you were on holiday."

And Bill says: "I am."

You, too can be a Weatherman. But it takes practice.

Typhoid Blamed On Rat-Infested Bowker Creek

Saanich Woman Believed Victim

Angry Saanich residents today blamed rat-infested Bowker Creek for a suspected typhoid outbreak in the municipality, the first case reported in years in the Greater Victoria area.

In Royal Jubilee Hospital with an infectious disease—believed to be typhoid—is Mrs. F. J. Hiley, 1631 Ruby road.

Mrs. Hiley's two children, Joyce, 5, and David, 3, are under observation in the hospital's isolation ward.

One other child in the Ruby road-Garnett street district went down with fever Monday and is under close observation.

OFFICIALS CONFUSED

Health officials said they are still confused as to the nature of the disease.

Tests first taken at St. Joseph's Hospital indicated Mrs. Hiley had typhoid, they said, but subsequent tests did not confirm first findings.

Mr. Hiley said his wife was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital Sept. 17, after suffering for some time with fever. His two children, he said, also showed signs of illness and were immediately placed in isolation ward.

Mr. Hiley said his doctor informed him his wife definitely had typhoid.

The husband blamed the unsanitary conditions of Bowker Creek for the disease. He said the creek in the area of Ruby road and Garnett street was not cleaned by the municipality and was clogged with sewage.

"The creek is infested with rats," he said. "Our cat is always killing rats and it may have brought the disease home."

Other residents in the district complained of the state of the creek, claiming it is dangerous to the health of the community.

Dr. A. N. Beattie, medical health officer for Saanich and South Vancouver Island Health Unit, said it is unlikely that typhoid would originate from the creek. There is no evidence of this, he said.

Typhoid is more likely to originate from foods or from a carrier, he said.

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffey, acting City-Esquimalt health officer, said there has been no case of typhoid in Greater Victoria for years. She said the disease was common in the tropics and capable of spreading rapidly.

The municipality, however, agreed to give service pay of five cents a day after the first five years of service, with a further five cents a day for each additional five years.

Wage adjustments were also granted in certain office workers.

The settlement also provides that Easter Monday be included as a statutory holiday with pay.

IBEW May Vote Next Week On BCE Offer

Balloting on a 1955-56 wage offer from B.C. Electric by more than 600 Vancouver Island and mainland employees is expected to be made next week, a union business agent said today.

Negotiations between International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and BCE have been going on all summer, based on the union's five per cent across-the-board wage demand.

Company offer will not be released by the union until all employees' ballots have been marked, membership decided.

Talks have covered a wide range of categories, including linemen, wiremen, maintenance workers, metermen, substation and generating workers, electrical servicemen and laborers.

Wages now range from $1.59 an hour for laborers to $2.96 for chief load dispatchers and $2.30 for electrical journeymen.

The last two-year contract expired Aug. 1, 1955.

Ballot for membership vote has not yet been prepared, pending working out "some details" with the company, the business agent said.

PREVIEW OF AUTUMN—FROST AND FOG—SEEN FOR TONIGHT

Victoria is due for a preview of autumn this evening, with some ground frost and patches of low-lying fog forecast by the weather office.

Autumn officially starts at 12:42 p.m. Friday, when the sun moves south toward the equator, and the autumnal equinox begins.

Fog in Vancouver this morning forced cancellation of three Trans-Canada Air Lines flights, and more fog is expected there Thursday morning.

Temperatures in sheltered areas here tonight may dip to 36, with a high of 58 Thursday.

City Warns Saanich

Victoria will claim damages from Saanich if the city wins a legal battle pending over recent tax sale of city land in the municipality.

City solicitor Arthur Patton said today if the courts set aside the sale of certain Beaver Lake lands, he will ask that the city be reimbursed for legal costs.

Saanich recently sold a parcel of land owned by the city for back taxes. The land in question is part of the Beaver-Elk Lake watershed which has been owned by the city since 1895. By provincial statute it is tax-free, says Mr. Patton.

It was considered a potential race track site and Saanich sold it to the anti-track Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association. The city has repeatedly ignored tax bills issued by Saanich for local improvement taxes.

Mr. Patton quoted the Municipal Local Improvement Act, which states that such land should be assessed but the tax should be paid by Saanich itself.

"It cannot be collected, nor is it collectable from the city," said Mr. Patton.

NOT ADVISED

Just returned from vacation, Mr. Patton delved immediately into the controversy which arose in his absence. He told reporters Saanich has never advised the city of the sale.

He said he wrote to the municipality asking details. If Saanich confirms the newspaper reports, he will give notice of court action. This gives Saanich 30 days to back down.

The sale to Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association cannot become legal for one year.

The city solicitor says there are several legal precedents which lead him to believe Saanich will be overruled if the case goes to the courts.

Casey Seeking Re-Election; Joins Socreds

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich, long known as a Liberal, has applied to join the Social Credit party, and at the same time has announced he will stand for re-election as reeve in December.

If he is successful it will be his fourth term as reeve.

Reeve Casey said he has not yet given any thought to entering politics as a candidate in provincial or federal fields.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. I am a fresh emigrant in Canada and have just been requested to pay $5 as "poll tax." Can that be right? As far as I know, I have no right to vote in any election until I am a Canadian subject. I have heard about taxes of that name, but that was in the history of the Middle Ages. Should it be the same tax surviving in modern B.C.? F.R.H.

A. If you have been resident in Victoria since the beginning of this year and are a householder, the law requires you to pay a $5 poll tax for 1955. If you are a Canadian citizen or a British subject and are qualified at September or October, you may vote at the municipal election in December, but you may not vote on money by-laws, though a person owning property in Victoria may vote in civic elections and on money by-laws, even if he lives outside the city.

A young woman's question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

City Milkmen Settle Dispute With Dairies

184 Workers Win Parity With Vancouver As 'Good Offer' Overwhelmingly Okayed

Settlement of a 10½-month contract dispute between 184 Victoria milkmen and three dairies was reached Tuesday night when the employees' union approved a "very good offer" from distributors.

MILK PROBE REPORT DUE IN FEW WEEKS

Victoria local 464 of Milk Drivers' and Dairy Employees' Union (AFL-TLC) had planned to strike by Nov. 9 if no agreeable offer had been forthcoming.

A strike would have tied up the three largest milk distributors on lower Vancouver Island.

The union won parity with Vancouver local members whose dispute with mainland dairies ended about two weeks ago.

A conciliation board recommended wage and working parity with Vancouver when it sat in consideration of the Victoria stalemate.

All features of the new contract are identical with that agreed to in Vancouver, but wage equality will not become effective for Victoria workers until July 1, 1956.

Meanwhile, local employees will enjoy higher wages and receive a lump sum payment making up for the disparity between Vancouver and Victoria wages from Jan. 1-Sept. 30 of this year.

Higher wage for inside dairy workers will be $252.50 a month, compared with the $216 they have been receiving. Drivers will be guaranteed $260 a month in place of the $235 which many had been receiving.

In its agreement, Vancouver was granted $262.50 and $270, respectively. In addition, Vancouver workers received retroactive pay of $12.50 a month.

Locally, dairymen will receive a larger retroactive sum to bring their total closer to what has been paid to Vancouver employees over the past year.

The union was also assured of a six-day delivery system based on a five-day work week, a half-day less than is presently worked.

All employees will have nine paid statutory holidays a year in place of three for inside workers and none for drivers.

The three local dairies, Palm, Northwestern and Island Farms, also offered Victoria workers any gains made by the Vancouver local between Jan. 1, 1956, when the contract reopens, and June 30, 1956.

Membership voted 97-2 in favor of the offer, to which recording secretary Norman Gillan referred as a "very good offer."

Health Board Gets Report On Services

A detailed survey of health services in the Greater Victoria area was submitted to the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health Tuesday by provincial deputy health minister Dr. G. F. Amyot.

It was referred to the inter-municipal committee which is studying the possibility of amalgamation of health services in Saanich district, Oak Bay and the Victoria-Esquimalt health areas.

Health board chairman G. K. Sammon said, "It gives a complete picture of benefits and what is entailed in formation of a metropolitan health area."

When the matter was introduced earlier, it was opposed by Saanich delegate, Reeve Joseph Casey.

Reeve Casey said he has not yet given any thought to entering politics as a candidate in provincial or federal fields.

EX-DESTROYER'S PROFILE CHANGES

Crescent To Be Algonquin Twin

By MONTE ROBERTS

Another "reborn" fighting ship will join Canada's growing anti-submarine navy within a few weeks.

She is the ex-destroyer HMCS Crescent, in the final stages of complete rebuilding and re-arming at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt.

Crescent is a historic name in the annals of Her Majesty's navy. The present Crescent is the 13th to bear the name. The first, a 140-tonner, was built in 1588, based at Dartmouth, and was one of the doughty little ships which defeated the Spanish Armada.

When Crescent is re-commissioned, she'll have Capt. Paul Taylor, present chief of staff to the flag officer, Pacific coast, in command. Capt. Taylor will also be senior officer of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron.

SHOPPING GUIDE

For a New Taste in Candy
Try German-Made Chocolate

By PENNY SAVER

I have a weakness for European chocolate. It has such a good, rich flavor. Of course, many people prefer a lighter, less rich chocolate. But those with a liking for the sumptuous stuff, can get a kick out of trying the cleverly-molded "liqueur" bottles made of dark chocolate and filled with a sweet cherry liqueur. Each bottle measures about two inches high, and is covered entirely with gold or silver foil. There's even a label. It's all in German, though, 'cause these are imported from West Germany. A natural-colored cardboard basket holds six bottles . . . three of one shape, and three slightly different. Something really different, and very good. Six for $1.

Strange thing, isn't it, that when it comes time to start thinking about a gift for dad, brother or husband, thoughts never turn to candy. Yet—open a box in the house when men folk are around and see how long it lasts! Of course, most boxes of candies come all pretied up with ribbons and bows that simply shriek "tailored for women only." I said "most" boxes, not "all" boxes. Believe it or not—I've found some in town made up especially for men. A rectangular shaped box that is a pure work of art. Down the front of the box are shirt buttons. Real ones. Top of the box is arranged as a collar, complete with bow tie. It comes in yellow and grey stripes or floral patterned.

No sissy box, this! It weighs one pound 11 ounces, and costs $3.60. Anyone can tell it's meant just for him. A slightly different box holds one pound, one and a half ounces. This is a longer box, and casually draped around the top is a satin long tie. This one costs $2.10. They're filled with assorted chocolates.

To completely change the subject, I'll tell you about a toy piano I saw in a local toy department. It's a "baby" grand, in the real sense of the word.

It stands about seven or eight inches high and is of an authentic shape. Wonder of all wonders, it's actually in tune . . . 11 keys. Very few toy pianos hit the right tones and semitones, but this one does. It costs $1.89.

In this toy department, I found something that is a very good idea. Plastic scissors perfect for cutting paper, but not strong or sharp enough to harm little fingers and busy hands. The youngsters will be perfectly safe using them. Price? Five cents a pair.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Ben Barker (Mother of 5)

Visiting with baby often presents the problem of how to keep him amused in strange surroundings. One mother's happy solution: she makes up a special toy kit strictly for visiting. Nothing familiar goes into it. Secret is to choose things baby hasn't seen for awhile. In the fun of discovery baby keeps absorbed, forgets to demand attention.

Refreshing afternoon snack or an end-of-meal treat that's hard to beat . . . Gerber Strained Fruit Dessert! Here's a delectable combination of three popular and most palatable fruits—orange, apricot and pineapple—carefully blended to tickle both the tongue and tummy. Serve at room temperature for little ones. Chill slightly for an older child.

Snack-begging toddlers will be more than satisfied with a smidgen of ginger-bread, topped with Gerber Fruit Dessert.

Smooth-surfaced and ever so hard, they provide soothing relief for tender gums, give baby the chewing and biting exercise he wants and needs. Gerber Teething Biscuits are made of wholesome ingredients enriched with minerals and vitamins—mildly but pleasantly flavored. Speaker Describes Children's Aid, Juvenile Courts

History and development of children's aid societies and juvenile courts and the legislation which led to the establishment of these courts in Canada, was presented at meeting of the Civic Interest group of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, last Monday evening.

Speaker was Miss M. Riddell, provincial supervisor, Family Division, Social Welfare Branch, Department of Health and Welfare.

The difference between juvenile and adult courts was pointed out and the duties and responsibilities of a juvenile officer and a judge of the juvenile court were briefly described.

"In order to live normally, active lives in the community, children need love, an ideal of family life, security, self respect, and a sense of achievement," Miss Riddell said.

"When one or more of these factors are lacking, children may try to compensate in a manner which could lead to delinquency."

Juvenile court endeavours to determine the reasons for such behaviour and to take appropriate measures to rehabilitate these children as useful junior citizens.

A discussion period followed. Miss Riddell's address and she was thanked by Miss Dorothy Creighton, Miss Ella Brett presided.

Rev. W. Buckingham officiated. Pews were marked with white satin rosettes and tall standards of fall flowers were on the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the lovely bride was gown in white Chantilly lace and net. Her ballerina-length gown was strapless and worn with a fitted lace jacket with pearly mandarin collar. Sleeves were long and tapering into lily points. A matching waist-length veil was held in place by a pearl coronet. Red and white roses were in her shower bouquet.

Mrs. Ian Frank Grimsson was matron of honor for her sister and Mrs. C. R. Arnold was bridesmaid. Their strapless gowns were pink and Nile green.

respectively, in ankle length of net over taffeta, with inserts of lace. Short boleros of net topped their gowns. Glamellias of contrasting colors were carried.

C. R. Arnold was best man, while Frank Grimsson and John Grimsson were ushers.

For a honeymoon trip to the Okanagan Valley, Mrs. Frew wore a lime green wool suit with contrasting accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Frew will make their home in Victoria.

for something on a high shelf really stretch, feeling the pull through the waistline. When you lean over to pick something up off the floor do not just crumple down. Do this in either one of two ways. Bend the knees all the way down, keeping your back erect, or separate the feet and keep the knees stiff as you bend from the waist.

When you make up a bed bend from the waist, keeping the back straight as you reach. When you go upstairs do not lean forward, but let your thigh muscles do the work. Whenever you walk or stand pull your abdomen in, your hips under, and straighten your spine.

All of these usual and homely activities we go through every single day of our lives can add up to a big total in helpful exercise, and without taking any extra time.

Even when taking your bath you can exercise, if you will take this period as a time of relaxation. You can exercise while drying yourself.

Take the end of a towel in each hand. Lift the arms overhead and stretch upward. Place the towel behind your shoulders, keeping the spine straight as you rub your upper back. This is splendid for round shoulders. When you are ready to dry your legs keep them stiff as you bend forward. Begin at the hips and rub all the way to the ankles if you can, with stiff knees. Now raise the towel high overhead and stretch upward. Go over each leg several times, stimulating circulation. Raise the arms high overhead in between rubs.

Teen-age girls are said to have adopted a new fashion fad—using crinolines made of glass fibres (Fibreglass.) Lumber yards and hardware stores are supplying the material, usually used for window screens. Model Vicki Deverill of Toronto demonstrates the material which is soft and pliable, holds its shape permanently and requires no starching or ironing. Girls in Florida discovered it and the practice has spread to Ontario and Quebec. (CP photo.)

Jealousy and Resentment Can Cause Family Trouble

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

There are very few families in which there is not at least one troublemaker who seems to take delight in bothering other members of the family. How to handle such a person is the problem facing this young wife:

(Q) "Last winter I was married to a young man whose younger brother had gone steady with me all through high school. When he decided to go to college, I started to go out occasionally with his older brother, mainly to get news about my boy friend. Soon, however, we fell in love and decided to marry. I know my former boy friend was annoyed, especially as he has always felt, so his mother tells me, that the older brother gets more than he does."

"Now I am faced with a rather difficult problem. The younger brother seems to be trying to turn the whole family against me by telling them things I said or did when I was a school girl. I am 21 years old now and worked after I finished school until I was married. I know I did and said some foolish things, as all school girls do, but I am afraid he is exaggerating these and making me seem like a worthless person in the eyes of my in-laws. How can I stop him from talking against me?"

(A) You can quickly put an end to your brother-in-law's talking against you by two methods. First, be especially nice to him and treat him as your brother instead of your brother-in-law. He is an old friend and you should not be afraid of arousing your husband's jealousy by letting him know how fond you are of your brother-in-law.

THIS is important, because the boy is showing his resentment by trying to turn his family against you. If you and he are on friendlier terms, there is less likelihood that he will want to hurt you in any way. Break down his resentment with kindness.

The second thing you can do is to create a good impression in the minds of your in-laws by your behavior. Be mature in your actions, kind, thoughtful, and courteous to every member of the family. Should any reference be made to your former behavior, laugh it off and say, "I guess I was a silly school girl when I was young." The more mature you are now the less likely your in-laws will be to think about your past behavior.

B.C. Institutes Send Two Sewing Machines to India

Two sewing machines sent by women's institutes of this province to Mysore, India, to be used for tailoring classes for women at the Yadavagiri Extension, have arrived safely and are being put to good use. Arrangements were made through Mrs. John Decker, Pemberton, B.C., a director of the BCWI provincial board, and Mrs. K. Kuppaswamy, Mysore, India.

In a letter of acknowledgment, Mrs. Kuppaswamy writes: "At last the machines have arrived and yesterday we had a nice little function where we inaugurated tailoring classes for women in Yadavagiri. The machines are grand and all the women that gathered there were overwhelmed with joy and many thoughts of kindness for all of you, who had taken so much trouble to present them to your sisters in India. A number of women have already registered to attend these classes and a teacher has been appointed to train them for a Diploma Course in Tailoring."

"Please convey to all our friends and sisters in Canada our grateful thanks and appreciation for this gesture of good will, friendship and affection for the women of India. I cannot express how happy we all are and how near we have been brought to the women of Canada. All our gratitude and thanks are to you in person who took great trouble to materialize this gift. The only way that we can make a return for all that you have done is to bring about greater understanding and fellow feeling among the women of the world."

It was at Toronto in 1953 that Mrs. Decker conceived the idea of the sewing machines, following a conversation with Mrs. Kuppaswamy concerning the many needs of India's women. The 6,000 WI members in British Columbia agreed to back

A-G Sees Industry, Population Reaching New Heights in B.C.

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—The story of a province that is growing by leaps and bounds was told here Tuesday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Mr. Bonner described to a service club audience the hand-in-hand growth of industry and population in British Columbia.

He told why the provincial government was allotting one-fifth of the budget to roads and bridges, and he predicted an ever-increasing role for B.C. and Canada in the future of North America.

Mr. Bonner said the fundamental problem of roads and bridges was costing B.C. taxpayers $42,000,000 a year.

He said access was a prerequisite to development but explained roads could not be built for less than $60,000 a mile.

A 9.2 mile section of the trans-Canada highway cost $200,000 a mile, while sections of the Fraser canyon cost up to $1,000,000 a mile.

Private industry last year increased five-fold during the last five or 10 years, Mr. Bonner said. Capital development in B.C. on a per capita basis was only equalled by Alberta.

And while industry was developing, the population increased 55 per cent to 1,300,000—a record no other province could match, he said.

Children were being born at the rate of 300 to 400 a month, while there were 200 new families each month.

Population growth meant more schools, he said, and to deal with this the government brought in additional grants to boards and municipalities along with equalization of assessment.

He said the second 50 years of the 20th century would see B.C. and Canada exerting more and more influence in North America. Since Confederation, B.C. had proven herself economically sound, Mr. Bonner said.

Agriculture and fishing showed a marked increase, while Kitimat and Kemano, "a few years ago an Indian reserve," were now an industrial miracle.

Within the next five years, he said he hoped Canada would increase her production of pulp and paper to 20 per cent. He said B.C. now supplies eight per cent of the country's newsprint.

He said British Columbia has "a boundless" future and Canada must take its place in North America in an industrial age.

Bill Russell, B.C. champion.

Mainland Carrier Operator Defeats Island Challengers

A New Westminster driver won the third annual lumber carrier "rodeo" at Seaforth Armouries in Vancouver to win a $25 prize and the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association trophy.

Bill Russell of Canadian Western Lumber Co., put his machine through the difficult course to net a total of 821 points out of a possible 1,000. It was his second consecutive victory in the contest.

Peter Fleming, driver for MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. in Port Alberni, was second with 811 points, and Dewey Terpma of Vancouver was third.

More than 100 operators from lumber mills on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland entered the contest, and 26 survived elimination bouts to enter the Vancouver finals. It is sponsored by the BCLMA.

Other Vancouver Island entries were Gordon Chayter, Honeycomb Bay; Frank Berry, Youbou; Pete Sutton, Victoria; Frank Kammerle, Mesachie Lake; Charles Mould and Leonard Knight, Port Alberni; J. Belsky, Victoria; Raymond W. Millard, Chemainus.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

CAYCUSE—Column of "small things" . . . etc.: Some of the teenagers' male gender are coming up with some mighty sharp-looking pink and charcoal tops. Couple of brothers are wearing T-shirts that I admire—one charcoal with pink dicky, the other vice versa. I'm all for brightening the masculine attire—does something for the old boys, too. But—spare me the pink treads!

The same Gilbert Livingstone who gave me the gen on some of the local Indian names has been for five years the western champion of amateur log-rolling. This year he almost lost his crown at the Labor Day loggers' sports at Lake Cowichan. The opponent? His 10-year-old son, Harvey, who rolled papa off the log once in three trials to come out second of three contestants. Some sort of record, maybe, for infant log-rolling? He learned to swim, too, when he was three, under father's guidance. His miniature drink bowls are reconstructed from ice-skating shoes.

I got a kick out of the current (and corny) chain-letter craze. Strictly for husbands, who are instructed to place their name at the foot of the list, bundle up wife and ship her to the man whose name is up top. It warns "... have faith—don't break the chain. One man broke it and got his wife back."

I'm happy to hear that the Gorge is going to be turned into a swimming-hole again. I remember when there was the "Pay" and the "Free" at the Gorge; a nickel for carfare and lots of us who were kids then had more fun for free.

My mind is surely landing lightly these days. Another thing that amused me was the youngest's riddle, gleaned from a comic book:

If having your appendix out is called an appendectomy; and having your tonsils out is called a tonsillectomy; what is it called when you have a growth removed from the top of your head? The answer: a haircut.

Chamber Seeks Air Service For Ladysmith

LADYSMITH—Support of all chambers of commerce in the central Island region will be sought by the Ladysmith chamber in an effort to have an air mail service established between here and the mainland.

Earlier in the year the local chamber wrote Trans-Canada Airlines requesting that an air service be established linking Cassidy airport to the mainland. Since that time all chambers of commerce in the central region have passed resolutions in support of this request.

On Monday, at the first meeting the local chamber has held since June, TCA reported by letter that the proposal is now being reviewed to determine the traffic potential. The letter said that the chamber will be informed when the review is completed.

FORWARD RESOLUTION

It was then decided to send a resolution to the postal department asking for the establishment of the service. A copy of this resolution will be forwarded to other chambers in the area.

During discussion of the existing mail service, Carl Walker, local postmaster, told the meeting that letters mailed in Ladysmith after 7:30 p.m. do not arrive in Vancouver until 5:45 p.m. the following day.

John MacNaughton suggested that the chamber should also send letters to major industries in the area asking what support they would give an airline service. If such industries indicated that they would make extensive use of the passenger, air freight and airmail services, it would help materially in obtaining the services, he said.

President E. F. N. Robinson said he would have such letters sent out here and would suggest to other chambers that they obtain the same information from industries in their areas.

Mr. Robinson reported that the executive has written to the department of public works to ask when directing signs may be erected on the new highway north and south of the city.

Annual Ladysmith Fall Fair Scheduled to Open Tonight

LADYSMITH—Annual fall fair sponsored by Ladysmith Agricultural Society will be opened here at 7:30 tonight by Robert M. Strachan, MLA.

Mayor Leonard Ryan also will speak at the opening, to be held in the Agricultural Hall.

Fair secretary Frank Highfeld predicted a 25 per cent larger entry list in the fair this year than last.

Special interest is being shown in the handiwork and domestic science sections for girls of 17 years and under, both in and out of school. A special prize has been offered for the high point winner.

Judges will include Mrs. Frank Reed, women's sections; A. E. Littler, provincial horticulturist, fruits and vegetables; S. B. Peterson, Courtenay, livestock; Rev. C. McDiarmid, poultry; W. J. Seaton, arts.

Mr. McDiarmid also will direct the 4-H Club contest for the showing of cows, heifers, and calves.

Pinky Lee Collapses

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Bouncy Pinky Lee today may leave a hospital where he was rushed after collapsing during his TV show, one of the nation's top-rated day programs watched by millions of children.

The veteran comedian, suffering from nervous exhaustion, slumped to the stage floor Tuesday while performing on his coast-to-coast (NBC) show.

Electrocardiographs disclosed he had not had a heart attack. Dr. Theodore Malner said Lee's collapse was caused by nervous exhaustion.

BACK TO BROADWAY—Julian Claman's "A Quiet Place" will be starring vehicle for Tyrone Power when it opens on Broadway next fall. Power is not expected to be available to Hollywood again for some time after he finishes his current stint on the "Eddie Duchin Story" where he has the chore of matching the finger work of the late piano stylist.

Myrt Ready For $64,000

Housekeeper, 70, Takes $32,000 By Naming Six Biggest Hitters

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Myrtle Power, baseball's new Georgia Peach, untangled herself from half-a-dozen good luck charms today and indicated she would shoot for pennant money on TV's "the $64,000 question."

Myrt, bolstered by a four-leaf clover, an Indian head penny, a turkey wishbone, an Oriental statuette, a lucky necklace and a jade ring, reached the $32,000 level on the giveaway show by swatting her way through a baseball query. Next week, the bouncy 70-year-oldster from Buford, Ga., can retire with her winnings or try to double them.

But Myrt ("please call me Myrtle. I just hate that name Myrtle") left little doubt she would go all the way. She revealed that she already was casting around for an expert to bring to the CBS-TV program next Tuesday. Under the rules of the show, Myrt can tote in a helper if she decides to go for the big question.

Myrt wore her lucky dress, a black silk number, for the third time on the show. She said she would wear it again next week.

"A ball player doesn't change his underwear during a winning streak," explained Myrt, "so I'm not going to change my dress."

The question pitched at her dealt with the seven ball-players who collected more than 3,000 hits during their major league careers. Myrt was asked to supply the six aside from Ty Cobb, the old Georgia peach.

"Cap Anson, Tris Speaker, Hans Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie," she said and then added, "Paul Waner."

Photographs plopped in the canal.

BRIDE LATE, GROOM LATER

Pageantry, Slapstick Humor As Prince Weds in Venice

VENICE, Italy (UP)—A 15-year-old Austrian princess married a German prince charming twice her age today in medieval pageantry complete with gondolas and slapstick humor.

Traditionally, the bride, Princess Virginia Ira Furstenburg, was 15 minutes late arriving by gondola down a canal lined with cheering Venetians to the 16th century candle-lit Church of San Sebastiano.

Untraditionally, the bridegroom, 31-year-old Prince Alfonso Maximilian Hohenlohe-Langeburg, was 10 minutes later than the bride. His gondola got tangled up in a watery traffic jam of gondolas and motorboats.

The princess' father, a millionaire Italian motor magnate whose family dates back to the holy Roman Empire, paid business houses along the route to shut for the day.

Thousands of Venetians turned out to see the ceremonial procession glide through the "streets." The onlookers even cheered a boatload of prisoners en route to Santa Maggiore Prison, thinking they were wedding guests.

Princess Ira's hairdresser, Alexandre de Paris, stepped forward to admire his creation as the princess passed by—and plopped into the canal. Two photographers, intent on their work, fell in, cameras and all. The princess, riding with her father, Prince Tassilo Furstenburg, could scarcely hold back her laughter.

A who's who of European nobility watched in the ancient church of San Sebastiano as the bride—too young to drive the Mercedes-Benz sports car her bridegroom gave her for a wedding present—said, "I do."

It was a wedding unmatched in Europe since the war and Prince Franz Khevenhuller said, "I have the impression we have recreated the court of the kaiser."

W. S. HART JR. LOSES FIGHT FOR ESTATE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The distinguished son of the late two-gun western film star, William S. Hart, Tuesday lost another court battle to prevent distribution of his father's estate. A petition by the son, William S. Hart Jr., 30, had asked for a court order to keep the actor's $1,175,000 Newhall ranch from being turned over to Los Angeles county for a park. Hart, who died in 1946, left the ranch as a museum and park containing relics of his screen career. The younger Hart has been fighting the will in courts for five years.

Starlet Pat Williams Sleeping Pill Victim

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Showgirl Pat Williams, onetime movie starlet and star of Ken Murray's Blackouts, was listed Tuesday by the coroner's office as a suicide from an overdose of sleeping pills.

The 24-year-old blonde had been dancing in the chorus of a Las Vegas hotel and had been divorced only a few days from a casino dealer.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Fine of $10 or three days in jail was imposed on Basa Singh, Victoria, when he pleaded guilty in city police court Tuesday to a charge of blocking traffic by slow driving.

Police said the accused was driving north on Douglas at about 3.40 p.m. Sept. 6 at a speed from 18 to 20 m.p.h.

The accused was "riding" the centre line and 15 cars were lined up behind his vehicle.

Changes in appointments at provincial civil defence headquarters announced today include:

Maj. L. R. A. Hart, named operations officer, and J. G. P. Audain, appointed instructor. Health liaison officer Miss M. Hazelwood has retired for personal reasons. Brig. G. Cretfield, Greater Vancouver Mutual Aid Area co-ordinator, has left his position because of a senior posting to federal civil defence headquarters.

Fine of $15 and $2.50 costs or three days in jail was imposed on Marion Machtemes, 2622 Dunlevy, when she pleaded guilty Monday in city police court to a charge of making false claims for unemployment insurance benefits.

The commission said she committed five offences involving $66.65 between Feb. 14 and March 19 while working as a housekeeper.

Court was told the $66.65 has been recovered by the commission.

Square dancing, games and modern dancing will be held at the YWCA "open house" following registrations for the fall session tonight at 7.30 p.m. The Blue Triangle square dance club for ages 13 to 16 and Vydas social dance club for young adults also will be open for registration Wednesday night.

Ottawa Signs New Quarterback

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders Monday night signed a new quarterback and dropped an old one which still leaves them with three on hand.

Jack Scarbath, 25-year-old former All-American quarterback with University of Maryland, signed a contract. Gene Rossi, quarterback, who played last year for University of Cincinnati, was cut.

"No trouble with IRREGULARITY"

Writes Mr. J. C. Hillis, of Halifax, N.S.: "It's a pleasure to be rid of harsh laxatives. I've had no trouble with irregularity for 18 months, since taking your gentle, effective laxation cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran." This testimonial is typical of thousands received each year for All-Bran the original, natural laxative cereal. The great advantage of All-Bran is it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. All-Bran, made from the whole wheat kernel, supplies natural food bulk. It is a good-tasting cereal that has helped millions. All-Bran will give gentle, effective relief from constipation within 10 days or double your money back. Get Kellogg's, the one and only All-Bran. BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

District notes: A "Scouting Explained" course was held at the Gorge Vale Scout Hall on Monday evening, with Morris Connor, Art Chamberlain and Bob Milks as instructors.

The display board showing the neckerchief of every group in the district in miniature was presented to the scouters' council by the Fairfield group council.

The executive commissioner for training from Canadian headquarters, J. L. MacGregor, will be a visitor to B.C. next month. He will be in the Duncan-Chemalain district. Scouters from Victoria are invited to attend.

The new district badges are now available at headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street. Cubs, Scouts and leaders may wear them.

Dunsmuir Group: Barry Warner, one of the patrol leaders, took his patrol to Thetis Lake for an overnight camp. Cooking, firelighting and compass work was carried out.

Third Victoria Group: The troop held their regular meeting under Scout George Bennett. Bob Miller was appointed as a patrol leader.

The Cub pack practiced knotting and star work. The boys who will be going on to the troop were given tests for repassing of their second star. Peter Loudon joined the pack from the Oakland group.

Chinese Group: At the troop meeting the patrols were presented with their Camporee badges and their district flashes. Some good pioneering work was carried out under the patrol system. Rover Scout Lyn Sheldrake paid the troop a visit. The troop is open for a few recruits over 11 years of age. Meetings are held at 7.15 Friday evenings in the Chinese United Church Hall, Fisgard Street.

At the pack meeting, Terry Lee was welcomed as a new Cub by Akela Winnie Bennett. Some excellent star work was done and stories of the jungle were told during the evening.

Bill Wansborough, acting troop leader, will be "moving on" to the Third Victoria Rover crew this fall.

October is registration time for the Scouts of the Victoria district. There are a number of groups which will not be able to register their boys and these lads will not be able to carry on with the "game".

THAT FIRST KISS SHOULD NOT COME ON FIRST DATE

DEAR MRS. RICKER: I am a girl of 15 and I need your help with this problem. Although I do not date very often, when I do I don't seem to be capable of handling the situation. I would like to know how to avoid being too chummy on the first couple of dates. Should you kiss a boy on a first date? Please advise me, D.E.

DEAR D.E.: A girl should start her relationship with a boy in a way that will demand his respect. If she doesn't she will be the one to get hurt, so it is up to her to set the standards of their dating behavior right from the start.

If she kisses a boy on her first date, don't you think he has the right to believe she will kiss every boy she dates? Generally speaking, isn't he likely to decide she is "easy" and think less of her.

Kissing is considered a way of expressing affection and it is obvious that first dates cannot reach the "affection" stage. A girl who feels she must kiss every boy she dates is, in reality, afraid of her ability to hold him.

any other way. But it takes more than physical attraction to form a lasting, satisfactory relationship. A goodnight kiss for that special boy friend is a natural and normal thing to do. But don't feel that you have to "pay" for a date by kissing every boy who takes you out.

Boys and girls should plan a variety of activities for their dates, sometimes with other couples—picnics, skating, dancing, swimming parties, church activities, movies and many other things. Lack of planned activities often causes young couples to get into serious (and dangerous) necking or petting habits.

DEAR MRS. RICKER: I am 16 and have been going out with a boy of 18. I have been dating him for six months. About two months ago he gave me a friendship ring. The next night he asked me if I wanted to go steady and I said, "Yes."

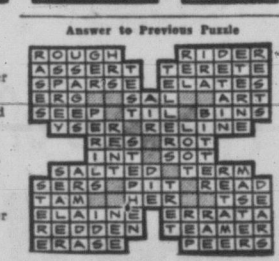

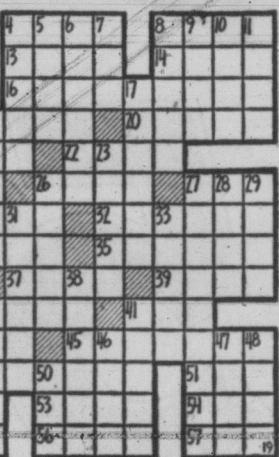

But now that I am going steady I don't want to and I just don't know how to tell him. I don't want to hurt his feelings because I think the world of him. We get along well, agree on most things, he is wonderful and thoughtful—but he is one of the first boys I ever dated and I want to go out with some other boys, too. How can I tell him? How would you do it? BEKE

DEAR BEKE: Unfortunately, there is no way to tell the boy how you feel without hurting his feelings. But I think you are wise to do it as long as you are not satisfied to date him only.

About all you can do is explain to him, as you did in your letter, that you want to have more dating experience and feel you are not ready to settle down to one boy yet.

It might help a little if you tell him your decision does not mean that you dislike him—in fact, you like him very much. And, if he is willing, you would still like to date him. If he is hurt, I know you will feel badly but he would be hurt more if he thought you were dating him just because you didn't want to hurt his feelings.

The boys told of their experiences and how they made friends with Scouts from other parts of the world. They were thanked by "Gib" Ball, who himself was a King Scout with the Sidney (V.I.) Troop.

Meat Check By-Laws Decision Thursday

New Order Will Give Local Producers Until May 1, 1956, to Meet Terms

A meat inspection by-law which was deferred by councils of Esquimalt and Victoria in June goes before city aldermen again Thursday.

This time the Union Board of Health has amended its proposed by-law to give local meat producers until May 1, 1956, to comply with its terms.

If passed, it will bring under inspection the 5 per cent of all meat consumed in Greater Victoria which is not already inspected. And it will boost the price of local meat to the level of meat sold through packing-houses here.

A Union Board of Health meeting Tuesday at City Hall recommended the by-law again be introduced following receipt of a report from the office of the deputy minister of agriculture.

On Sept. 8, deputy minister William MacGillivray met with chief veterinary inspector Dr. Wallace Gunn, Union Health Board chairman G. K. Sammon and chief sanitary inspector Elwood S. Gropp.

The meeting was arranged at suggestion of city solicitor A. J. Patton. He suggested the deputy minister be acquainted with the fact that uninspected meat was being sold in the Victoria-Esquimalt area. The meat is produced and slaughtered in surrounding districts.

INSPECTION CENTRES

Decision of the meeting was that in order for the municipalities to conform with provincial regulations inspection centres would have to be set up at several district slaughtering establishments.

The centres would be operated as private businesses under provincial licence with cost of operation borne by the person owning the meat to be inspected. City-Esquimalt sanitary inspector Elwood Gropp said that this cost would be passed along to the consumer.

Mr. Sammon pointed out that this would have the effect of putting the cost of locally produced meat in line with meats which are already being subject to federal and provincial inspection in packing houses.

Dr. Gunn suggested the six-month preliminary period to permit conversion of some district slaughtering establishments to inspection centres.

He said the department will not licence or approve any establishment unless sanitary and health arrangements meet department standards. The report added, "Considerable expense would be entailed."

According to the report of the meeting, Dr. Gunn felt that such improvements will be made if the farmers and slaughterers are "not pushed" but given adequate time and that such a program would eliminate the fly-by-night operators and establish the industry on a sound basis.

Dr. Gunn said he would make available names of farmers and slaughterers to the local health department so that proper notice of the by-law could be given.

He said he will train local inspectors and was advised that Inspector E. Grant of the Victoria-Esquimalt health department, who now inspects butcher shops, would take the required additional training.

The new by-law proposes a fine of up to $100 for sale of meat in this area if it is not first inspected and stamped by either a federal or provincial municipal inspector.

Leon Koerner Gives Million For Education

B.C. Lumber Tycoon Creates Foundation

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $1,000,000 gift, believed to be the largest ever presented to Vancouver by a private individual, was announced Tuesday by Leon Koerner, retired president of Alaska Pine Co.

The gift, for educational, cultural and charitable purposes, will be administered by the Leon and Thea Foundation, named after Mr. and Mrs. Koerner.

The foundation will be administered by a board of governors, which includes Brig. Sherwood Lett, chief justice of the British Columbia Supreme Court, and Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Koerner settled in Vancouver 16 years ago when they were prevented from returning to their native Czechoslovakia by the Nazi occupation. Mr. Koerner had been controller of timber in his country before coming here during a world tour.

BURNS DOWNTOWN BUILDING

As an initial investment to maintain the fund in perpetuity, the foundation has bought the Rogers Building, in downtown Vancouver, for $1,250,000.

The Koerner gift is the second big donation of its kind from a lumber industrialist in Vancouver in little more than a week.

Last week H. R. MacMillan, chairman of the board of MacMillan and Bloedel, gave $500,000 to the Vancouver Foundation for education and research.

Administrators of the Koerner Foundation said Mr. and Mrs. Koerner set up their foundation last May.

Lieutenant-Governor designate Frank MacKenzie Ross, Vancouver, will pay a "flying" visit to Victoria Thursday when he and Mrs. Ross will be shown around Government House by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will come from Vancouver, where Mr. Wallace has been attending to personal business prior to the swearing-in of his successor October 3.

Rebels Seize Peron, Criminal Trial Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—A Mutual Broadcasting System correspondent in Buenos Aires reported today that Juan D. Peron "is now in rebel hands." The correspondent, Jack Comden, said Peron was taken off the Argentine gunboat where he took refuge Tuesday. He predicted Peron would be tried as a war criminal by the new Argentine government.

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's rebel forces today won a peace agreement—apparently with unconditional surrender—from the loyalist followers of Juan D. Peron.

The rebels established Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi as provisional (temporary) president of the nation.

A brief communique did not disclose Peron's fate, but the rebels in their four-day revolt gave as one of their conditions of surrender the handing over of the man who ruled Argentina for a decade. The last authoritative information had him aboard a Paraguayan gunboat in Buenos Aires harbor.

The communique read over the state radio said the two sides had reached "complete accord," and the loyalist forces had "accepted the points stipulated by the rebels."

The rebels had announced before peace negotiations began that they would accept only an unconditional surrender.

GUNFIRE BEFORE PEACE

Government troops and police battled terroristic followers of Peron in the heart of downtown Buenos Aires today.

It was the most serious outbreak since the announcement of Peron's fall from power on Monday.

The bloody clash between government forces and some 400 to 600 members of the extreme right-wing Alianza Libertadora Nacionalista left the party headquarters wrecked and aflame under the combined fire of four Sherman tanks and a field gun mounted atop the nearby All America Cables building.

Bookkeeper Charged In Vancouver Fire

VANCOUVER (CP)—A fire which swept a downtown clothing concern here May 9 was apparently set because "somebody wanted to get rid of the books," Magistrate Thomas Dohm said here Tuesday.

Victor Norman Laird, 35-year-old bookkeeper, is charged with arson in the Pacific Tailors Ltd. fire.

BOY OPENS PLANE DOOR, FALLS MILE TO DEATH

SEPT-ILES, Que. (CP)—A 3½-year-old boy, who somehow released a latch on an escape hatch of a transport plane, was swept to his death Tuesday through the 20-inch-square opening.

The youngster, Harold Meier, fell 6,000 feet to the bush below. Near him on the bench seats that run lengthwise of the plane were his mother and a five-year-old brother.

The accident happened on a regular daily flight of Holinger-Ungava Transport.

CITY FIRM NAMED IN ROOF COMBINE

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament's anti-combines body has accused Canada's $40,000,000 asphalt and tar roofing products industry with maintaining illegal price-fixing operations for some 20 years. One of the industry's main products is asphalt shingles.

A Victoria firm, Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., is one of the 10 companies named in the report.

The three-man restrictive trade practices commission, in a 282-page report to Justice Minister Garson, urged court action to smash the operations and prevent their reopening.

The commission was set up by Parliament as a semi-judicial body in 1952.

Mr. Garson, making the report public today, said he will consult with his legal advisers and decide later what action the government will take.

Named in the report which developed out of a two-year federal combines investigation are: The Barrett Co. Ltd., Montreal; Dominion Tar and Chemical Co. Ltd., Montreal; Canadian Gypsum Co. Ltd., Toronto; Canadian Johns Manville Co. Ltd., Toronto; Bishop Asphalt Papers Ltd., Portneuf Station, Que.; Brantford Roofing Co.

Highly-Controversial Book To Be Serialized by Times

Starting Thursday, the Victoria Daily Times will offer its subscribers a serialized version of Dr. Rudolph Flesch's new book "Why Johnny Can't Read," in 12 daily installments.

Since its publication, this criticism of a vital phase of school instruction in the United States has stirred continent-wide interest and controversy among educators, parents and teachers.

This newspaper hopes it will stimulate similar interest here.

In order to avoid misconceptions over the application of the criticism to local schools, the Greater Victoria Teachers' Federation has generously undertaken to provide an accompanying column of comment and comparison for each of the articles written by Dr. Flesch.

With the desire to stimulate thought on a basic educational subject, the Times will reproduce the two simultaneously.

Dr. Flesch states what he thinks is wrong with the U.S. reading instruction techniques. The Victoria teachers state what they are doing to overcome the difficulties he mentions and also what they think is wrong with Dr. Flesch's views.

World Wheat Pact Collapse Feared

Champ Rules 19-5 Favorite To Win Tonight

Marciano-Moore Broadcast 7.15

Tonight's heavyweight title fight between Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore in Yankee Stadium, New York, will be broadcast by radio station CJVL starting at 7.15. The fight is scheduled to get under way at 7.45.

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, an old hand at postponements, became a heavier favorite than ever today for his 15-round title defense against light-heavyweight boss Archie Moore in Yankee Stadium tonight.

The odds favoring the 31-year-old Marciano lengthened to 19 to 5 following the one-day setback caused by hurricane Ione's hollow threat. The odds may jump another point or two by the time the contestants climb into the ring for the 7.45 p.m. PDT showdown.

"No Moore money has showed," said one bookmaker in explaining the rise. "As a betting fight, this one has fizzled out like Ione."

With the gusty gal safely away from New York, forecasters predicted a fair and cool evening, just about perfect for the battle of champions.

Three other reasons may have influenced the increased swing to Marciano. At the weigh-in ceremony Tuesday afternoon, the usually cocky and poised Moore appeared grim and tense, while Marciano was his usual self, cool and relaxed.

Yanks, Indians Can Tie Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

The relentless Yankees can clinch a tie for the American League title tonight if they beat the Washington Senators a third straight time and the Indians lose to the Chicago White Sox. But they can't deliver the kyo blow until at least Friday.

The Indians made certain of that Tuesday night when they snapped a four-game losing streak with a "back-to-the-wall" 3-2 triumph over the White Sox. The victory did little more than prolong the agony, however, as the Yankees beat the Senators, 6-3 and 9-7, in a day-night double-header—and went 2½ games ahead of the Tribe.

As a result, the Yankees' "magic number" is down to "three." Any combination of Yankee victories and Cleveland losses totaling three will clinch Casey Stengel's sixth flag in seven years. The Yankees have five games left, while the Indians have four.

REAR-ADMIRAL DEWOLF

DeWolf Named Chief of Staff For Navy

Appointment of Rear-Admiral Harry G. DeWolf to succeed Vice-Admiral E. Rolfe Mainwaring as Chief of Naval Staff was announced by the department of national defence at Ottawa today.

Admiral Mainwaring, a native of Vancouver Island, will go on retirement leave January 16.

Admiral DeWolf, whose promotion to vice-admiral will be in the New Year's promotion lists, was flag officer, Pacific Coast, for two years commencing 1948, and is well known on this coast.

He was born at Bedford, Nova Scotia in 1903, and joined the RCN in 1918, receiving his early training at the Royal Canadian Naval College of Canada and in ships of the Royal Navy.

Early in the Second World War, Admiral DeWolf was captain of the H.M.C.S. Albatross, when he rescued 89 survivors of the torpedoed S.S. Arandora Star. During this period he was twice mentioned in despatches.

While in command of the destroyer Haida, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order, the Distinguished Service Cross, and was twice mentioned in despatches for "leadership and gallantry." He was awarded the CBE and the Legion of Merit in 1945.

Rear-Admiral DeWolf will be succeeded as chairman of the Canadian joint staff, Washington, by Maj.-Gen. H. A. Sparling, 48, now vice-chief of the general staff.

The new vice-chief of the general staff will be Maj.-Gen. N. E. Rogers, 47, now chief of the army's Prairie Command. He will take over this appointment Nov. 22.

New chief of Prairie Command will be Maj.-Gen. W. J. McGill, 48, who has been senior military adviser to the Canadian commissioner on the Viet Nam international truce supervisory commission.

Trade 'Chaos' Seen If U.S. Pulls Out

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—American activities in unloading its surplus wheat and other grains are upsetting the world wheat picture to an extent that could wreck the international wheat agreement and cause chaos in the international trading picture.

The situation is becoming so serious in the view of the Canadian government authorities that it will take top priority at the Sept. 26 meetings of the joint United States-Canada committee on trade and economic affairs here.

The American administration's insistence on disposing of its surplus agriculture products through "give away" deals and by the acceptance of local currencies has been viewed with mounting alarm by the Canadian government.

On top of that there have been some disturbing statements emanating from Washington and from U.S. representatives in Canada.

In Calgary U.S. Ambassador to Canada, R. Douglas Stuart was interviewed this week. He said commenting on the difficulties developing over disposal of surplus farm products: "Perhaps the old fashioned law of supply and demand taking its course might result in a solution."

This comment has added to the concern in Canadian government trade and agriculture circles.

Canada has the supply, but world markets aren't in a buying mood.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian visible wheat supplies totalled 377,000,000 bushels at the close of business Sept. 14, the board of grain commissioners said Tuesday. This represented a gain of 3,900,000 during the week and an increase of 27,100,000 over stocks in these same positions at this time last year.

OTTAWA (BUP)—The world's major exporting countries held 2,022,600,000 bushels of wheat for export in their bins and elevators on Aug. 1, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

This was some 3 per cent below the available supplies of a year ago.

PM Confident World Will Buy Canada's Wheat
OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent expressed confidence today that Canada's huge surplus of wheat eventually will be sold.

But he gave no indication that he had any special disposal plan under consideration.

He was asked by reporters, following a morning cabinet session, to comment on a statement by A. H. McDonald, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, that he had placed before Mr. St. Laurent a scheme for moving western grain out of farm storage.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had spoken to Mr. McDonald and merely received confirmation that the Prairies had a lot of wheat and that it was of high quality.

"I feel confident," said Mr. St. Laurent, "that in due course it will be disposed of as the premium wheat of the world."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Western grain men and businessmen will meet in Saskatoon next Tuesday and Wednesday to figure out a way to move the mountain of grain lying on the Prairies. The talks were arranged by Interprovincial Farm Union Council. The country's storage and transportation facilities are plugged tight, but even more serious is the problem of supply and demand.

BRITISH CABINET LOOKS HARD AT BUDGET

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden summoned his cabinet today to consider what government decisions are necessary to check inflation threatening Britain's new-found prosperity.

Top item on the agenda for the meeting—first full-scale cabinet session of the summer—was a review of the financial situation by Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler.

Persistent but unofficial reports said Eden may decide to cut defence spending under the severe economic pressure. Britain is failing to export enough to cover the costs of its imports from abroad.

'Living Wall' Ordered For Grave Gaza Area

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—United Nations officials today were ordered to form a "living wall" along a demilitarized section of the border between Israel and Egypt in order to avert a new frontier outbreak.

The order came from Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, United Nations chief Palestine truce observer. At the same time, he demanded that Israeli forces withdraw from the zone Tuesday night.

Burns told UN observers in the area to take up positions along the international border as a means of blocking an open clash between Israeli and Egyptian troops.

In Cairo, Col. Salah Gohar, director of the war office's Palestine department, said an Egyptian officer and three men were injured during this "flagrant violation of the general armistice agreement." An official spokesman said the situation was "very grave."

PROTEST ISRAELI ACTION

Gen. Burns called on the acting director of the Israeli foreign ministry, Arthur Lurie, today, and protested against the Israeli action in entering the El Auja zone, a small area both sides of the border about 20 miles south of the Gaza strip.

Latest reports from El Auja said the situation there was quiet.

An Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said the Israeli army units took up position in the zone Tuesday night, under strict orders to observe a cease-fire and to be withdrawn when two Egyptian outposts, discovered during demarcation of the international frontier, are withdrawn.

Giant Calgary CD Operation Delayed Week

CALGARY (CP)—Mayor Don Mackay today ordered a one-week postponement of Operation Lifesaver.

He said the operation will proceed as planned Sept. 28.

The mayor's decision came after conferences with civic defence co-ordinators and police and an early-morning tour of the city and surrounding areas which the mayor said showed traffic conditions too dangerous to permit the massive test today.

The decision came after a night of snow and freezing rain that left streets and highways dangerously slippery. The temperature was 32 and a cold, stiff north wind was blowing.

QUESTION SUCCESS

Whether the massive evacuation of a hoped-for 40,000 persons from the northeastern section of Calgary would have been a success in the face of today's weather conditions was problematical. Evacuation was voluntary and civil defence authorities had no means of compulsion.

The bad weather was a blow to the country's top civil defence authorities, here from many parts of the western world to study the operation.

UNREQUITED LOVE CALL

Red Tape on Border Trips Persistent Wife

SEATTLE (AP)—Annie Learned, a Canadian waitress, and her husband are caught in an international version of baseball's squeeze play.

Mrs. Learned, 30, of Vancouver, is barred from the United States. Her husband, Darrell, 29, of Mount Vernon, Wash., is barred from Canada.

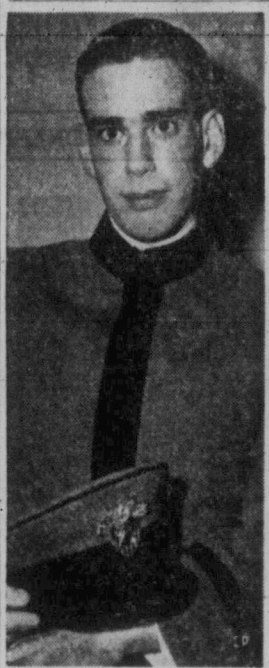

Mrs. Learned has tried to enter the United States illegally three times. Her latest attempt to jump the border and to join her husband ended Monday in a 15-month sentence at the federal penitentiary for women at Alderson, W. Va.

Federal Judge William J. Lindberg issued the sentence after the woman pleaded guilty to entering this country unlawfully.

All she wants to do, Mrs. Learned told Judge Lindberg, is to join her husband at Mount Vernon, 50 miles south of the border. She said he'd been found unlawfully in Canada at one time and now he can't return to Canadian soil.

Vancouver Radio Reporter Hits Conduct of Tupper Police Probe

Three-pronged criticism of the conduct of the Tupper inquiry into allegations of graft, corruption, mismanagement and laxity in Vancouver city police force was made in Victoria today by radio reporter Jack Webster.

Webster, whose nightly hour-long reports on CJOR of the probe are heard widely, was speaking to the luncheon at the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

He also separately attacked the "appalling apathy of Canadians in tolerating lack of integrity shown by elected officials in government office."

On the police probe which started July 5 and is now in its seventh adjournment, Webster said:

"With great respect to Commissioner Tupper, and despite all the explanations he has given, I am still puzzled by some aspects of the conduct of the probe."

At am at a complete loss to understand why one witness (Helen Elizabeth Douglas, the woman who alleged in court she received money from Chief Constable Mulligan) was allowed to appear in court in a disguise.

"Surely a basic tenet of justice is that a person accused is entitled to see his accuser face to face—without false wigs, or exaggerated make-up."

"A disguised witness to me, is bound to lessen in some respects the responsibility the witness feels."

"In the extreme, this performance, to me, could be compared to a recanted terrorist in Kenya with a hood over his head, walking down the compounds and pointing out the 'baddies'."

"Secondly," added Webster, "such have been the delays in the public business of the Commission—and it's easy to be wise with hindsight, that I can't help feeling that the best conduct of the probe might have been a two or even three-month delay from the original appointment of the Commission to allow counsel and the RCMP to complete all their investigations before a single witness was heard."

DeWolf Named Chief of Staff For Navy

Appointment of Rear-Admiral Harry G. DeWolf to succeed vice-admiral E. Rollo Mainguy as Chief of Naval Staff was announced by the department of national defence at Ottawa today.

Admiral Mainguy, a native of Vancouver Island, will go on retirement leave January 16.

Admiral DeWolf, whose promotion to vice-admiral will be in the New Year's promotion lists, was flag officer, Pacific Coast, for two years commencing 1948, and is well known on this coast.

He was born at Bedford, Nova Scotia in 1903, and joined the R.C.N. in 1918, receiving his early training at the Royal Canadian Naval College of Canada and in ships of the Royal Navy.

Early in the Second World War, Admiral DeWolf was captain of the destroyer St. Laurent when she rescued 859 survivors of the torpedoed Se. Arandora Star. During this period he was twice mentioned in despatches.

While in command of the destroyer Haida, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order, the Distinguished Service Cross, and was twice mentioned in despatches for "leadership and gallantry." He was awarded the CBE and the Legion of Merit in 1945.

Rear-Admiral DeWolf will be succeeded as chairman of the Canadian joint staff, Washington, by Maj. Gen. H. A. Sparling, 48, now vice-chief of the general staff.

The new vice-chief of the general staff will be Maj. Gen. N. E. Roiger, 47, now chief of the army's Prairie Command. He will take over this appointment Nov. 22.

New chief of the general staff will be Maj. Gen. W. J. McGill, 48, who has been senior military adviser to the Canadian commissioner on the Viet Nam international trade supervisory commission.

Rebels Seize Peron, Criminal Trial Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—A Mutual Broadcasting System correspondent in Buenos Aires reported today that Juan D. Peron is now in rebel hands. The correspondent, Jack Comden, said Peron was taken off the Paraguayan gunboat where he took refuge Tuesday. He predicted Peron would be tried as a war criminal by the new Argentine government.

CITY FIRM NAMED IN ROOF COMBINE

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament's anti-combines body has accused Canada's $40,000,000 asphalt and tar roofing products industry with maintaining illegal price-fixing operations for some 20 years. One of the industry's main products is asphalt shingles.

A Victoria firm, Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., is one of the 10 companies named in the report.

The three-man restrictive trade practices commission, in a 282-page report to Justice Minister Garson, urged court action to smash the operations and prevent their reopening.

The commission was set up by Parliament as a semi-judicial body in 1952.

Mr. Garson, making the report public today, said he will consult with his legal advisers and decide later what action the government will take.

Named in the report which developed out of a two-year federal combines investigation are: The Barrett Co. Ltd., Montreal; Dominion Tar and Chemical Co. Ltd., Montreal; Canadian Gypsum Co. Ltd., Toronto; Canadian Johns Manville Co. Ltd., Toronto; Bishop Asphalt Papers Ltd., Portneuf Station, Que.; Brantford Roofing Co. Ltd., Brantford, Ont.; Building Products Ltd., Ville la Salle, Que.; Currie Products Ltd., Hamilton; The Philip Carey Co. Ltd., Lennoxville, Que.; and Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd., Victoria.

CHARGES JOINT ACTION

The commission, after hearing the combines investigators and the companies named, concluded there had been joint action by the manufacturers to maintain prices at various distribution points; restrict distribution outlets; discontinue certain products in public demand; limit roofing guarantees in some cases; and make uniform tenders for government contracts.

Besides shingles, the industry produces insulated and roll siding, smooth and mineral surfaced roof roofing, sheathing and insulating pellets and papers, built-up roofing felts, asphalt compound and coal tar pitch, waterproofing paints and cements, shingle stains, wood preservatives and disinfectants.

The commission found price maintenance operations had started in the 1930s or even earlier and allegedly were administered through the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association. Certain association officials were mentioned in the report.

Heavyweight Fight Broadcast at 7.15

Tonight's heavyweight title fight between Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore in Yankee Stadium, New York, will be broadcast by radio station CFTV starting at 7.15. The fight is scheduled to get under way at 7.45.

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, an old hand at postponements, became a heavier favorite than ever today for his 15-round title defence against light-heavyweight boss Archie Moore in Yankee Stadium tonight.

The odds favoring the 31-year-old Marciano lengthened to 19 to 5 following the one-day setback caused by hurricane Ione's hollow threat. The odds may jump another point or two by the time the contestants climb into the ring for the 7.45 p.m. PDT showdown.

"No Moore money has showed," said one bookmaker in explaining the rise. "As a betting fight, this one has fizzled out like Ione."

World Wheat Pact May Go

Chaos in Trade Feared if U.S. Continues to Unload Surpluses

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—American activities in unloading its surplus wheat and other grains are upsetting the world wheat picture to an extent that could wreck the international trading picture.

The situation is becoming so serious in the view of the Canadian government authorities that it will take top priority at the Sept. 26 meetings of the joint United States-Canada committee on trade and economic affairs here.

Canadian government trade and agriculture spokesmen have been blunt in their condemnation of the U.S. agriculture surplus disposal program.

The American authorities have blandly assured the Canadian government that its program can have no effect on Canada's normal markets. But this has not been the experience of Canadian traders.

The American administration's insistence on disposing of its surplus agriculture products through "give away" deals and by the acceptance of local currencies has been viewed with mounting alarm by the Canadian government.

On top of that there have been some disturbing statements emanating from Washington and from U.S. representatives in Canada.

The communiqué read over the state radio said the two sides had reached "complete accord" and the loyalist forces had "accepted the points stipulated by the rebels."

The rebels had announced before peace negotiations began that they would accept only an unconditional surrender.

Government troops and police battled terroristic followers of Peron in the heart of downtown Buenos Aires today.

It was the most serious outbreak since the announcement of Peron's fall from power on Monday.

DUMPING HARMFUL

Fred J. Rossiter, agricultural attaché to the U.S. embassy at Ottawa, after a two-week tour of western Canada said there was a need for Canadian and American representatives to get together to clear up "the bad feeling that has developed."

In addition, reports published in eastern Canadian newspapers from a Washington correspondent stated flatly that the U.S. might refuse to remain in the international wheat agreement next year if the United Kingdom continued to stay out. The correspondent quoted one official of the U.S. agriculture department as stating:

"There'll be no new agreement for sure."
